

First Hit Of The New Season

Tom Muchowski crosses home plate after hitting 1st home run of the new season on Sunday, May 20th. Festivities included a pre-game parade and the raising of the American Flag. Mrs. Jean Gray sang the Star Spangled Banner and was followed by Reverend John Swanson, who gave the invocation. Village Pres. Roberts (Right) threw the first ball.

VFW Airs Picnic Plans At CBC Meeting

Only four persons attended the May 23 Community Betterment Committee meeting, held at V. F. W. post headquarters on Janes Road. Two V. F. W. representatives, the village board delegate and a W. N. R. reporter learned about plans for the community's annual picnic.

Contingent upon issuance of necessary permits by the village board, the 4th of July affair sponsored by V. F. W. post 4739, will be held at the west end of Everglade Ave.

Just as at previous picnics, refreshments will be available, and there will be entertainment booths. Any organization wishing to maintain a booth is requested to contact by mail Picnic Chairman Joseph Vymetal, 7704 Westview Lane, or Co-Chairman Don Jeffreys, 2958 Jonquil Lane. The only conditions are that the booths are to be set up by the individual organizations and cleaned up by them afterward.

Highlight of the day will be an aerial fireworks display.

Vymetal said that plans call for 10% of the gross receipts of all the booths to be allocated to the village library. Further plans will be revealed at a later date.

CHILD STRUCK BY CAR

Three year old Michael Vicencio was struck by an auto driven by Bruce Wolfe, 2933 Forest Glen pkwy., Fri., May 18.

The boy suffered lacerations and bruises about his head, but subsequent X-rays proved negative.

The accident occurred in front of the Vicencio home, 7629 Deerfield. Mrs. Diane Vicencio said she missed her son, who had been helping her weed in their front yard, and looked up in time to see him, doubled over, about to be struck by the car. Even as she screamed, it was too late.

Another witness, Mrs. Loretta Runnfeldt, 7622 Deerfield, said she saw the child dash into the path of the car from the west side of Deerfield and then out of her line of vision.

Wolfe, who was driving very slowly, states he never saw the child.

Witnesses encountered confusion in summoning help. They report that at first there was no answer from the Woodridge police department, and the Lisle Fire Protection district said the Woodridge fire department could not handle the call. A Downers Grove ambulance service was then called.

When no help came for some time, Mrs. Vicencio and Michael were driven by Firemen's Auxiliary members, Mrs. Delores Wilgus and Mrs. Laverne Goetz to Edward hospital, Naperville, where after delays she learned no emergency doctor was available.

Because her husband, Alfred, was at work at the time, Mrs. Vicencio waited for Wolfe to drive them to the Lisle Medical center. There the injured boy was treated and released.

Applicants in the petition are Andrew and Anna Ocinas, 2147 - 75th st. who requested the change to allow a Marathon gas station to be built on the site.

Negotiations Held Up On School Donation

Clarification Of Release Rejected

By Sue Towner

As of last weekend the school board of district #68 and the Surety Development Corporation had not resolved the differences over the conditions under which

Grads Honored At Banquet

The 21 members of the Woodridge school graduating class of 1962 dined along with their proud parents at a banquet held in their honor, Wed., May 23, in the school auditorium.

Among the guests, which included most of the teachers and school board members, were Mrs. Elizabeth Crane, superintendent of district #68, and Mr. Crane and 8th grade teacher Thomas Tousignant and Mrs. Tousignant.

Mr. Tousignant also served as master of ceremonies for the entertainment, which followed the catered dinner.

The 8th graders themselves performed in a skit entitled "Dragon in the Bay", which was written by Larry Ortman. Three songs were pantomimed, "Baby Sittin' Boogie" and "Peanut Butter" by James Smith and Jesse Sanchez and "Lollipop" featured Beverly Glinka, Bertha Harwell and Susan Pryzbylski. Charles Groth presented a baritone rendition of "Intermezzo" and Larry Ortman recited a monologue called "I Just Love School".

The 2-1/2 hour affair concluded with a presentation of 8th grade graduates.

Surety would continue to donate money to the school district.

The school board's relations with the builder were publicly disrupted last month when the board issued a new release explaining why the board had ordered a cut-back in the school addition plans. In its release, the board said the cut back was necessary because Surety refused to release funds as agreed upon previously in a contract between the developer and the school district.

Surety strongly objected to this release, claiming that it was inaccurate and told only part of the story.

In the meantime two new members of the school board were installed and John Dahlberg was elected president, replacing Don Miller. Dahlberg, in listing his objectives for the coming year, said that one of his goals would be to re-establish relations with the builder. In line with this, Dahlberg and Lew Benckendorf, one of the new members of the board, were appointed to meet with the builder in an attempt to resolve any differences.

A meeting was held on Apr. 28 with Jack Kaufman of Surety and the following was agreed.

1. The payment of $200 per house as per the original agreement signed will be made for and through Unit #3. Said payment to be made subsequent to a public retraction of the recent release

Play Nets $180 For Library

By Ramona Kinser

About 200 people attended the 2 performances of "The Curse of An Aching Heart," the old fashioned melodrama sponsored by the Library committee and performed in the Woodridge school auditorium. Seventy-five were present on opening night, Fri, May 18, and 125, the following evening.

Director Bob Jensen expressed his pleasure at the performances of the cast and all those who participated in the presentations. He said because of the success of this first venture, the Library committee will undoubtedly sponsor another play, probably a comedy, in the fall.

Ticket sales amounted to $320 netting the library committee approximately $180. With these funds the committee can begin the job of cataloging available books. They hope the library will be ready for a fall opening.

Printed plaudits to the people who made possible the community's first legitimate acting presentation in Woodridge school auditorium!

The script of the library committee-sponsored gay nineties play, "The Curse of an Aching Heart," was loaded with wry witticisms and pervasive puns. While the plot rivalled a Dickens novel for complexity, and a modern-day soap opera for implausibility, to a very responsive opening night audience and this particular punster, it proved good fun. Also obvious was the fact that the cast was enjoying the tongue-in-cheek melodrama, too.

Action was laid in the farm house of rancher Hiram Abernathy and his wife, Sara, played by Bill Miller and Barbara Bletcher. To disturb the serenity of the scene came vexatious visitor, mustach-

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the library committee I would like to thank the W.N.R. for their generous donation of programs for our recent play. The cover by John Vandeleur was perfect and the work, time, and cost involved in preparing the programs was most appreciated.

As the library committee is composed mostly of women we are also thankful to the men of the W.A.A. who moved and built props for us. Without their physical labor the stage might have been devoid of decoration.

We are also grateful to all of the people in the community who supported our first venture in this field and to those of you who missed the play may I add that we will probably consider another in the future.

Sincerely,

Barb Lentz

Teen talk

by Barbara Arnouil

Along with all this warm weather come many events. Exams, 8th grade and high school graduation, summer vacation, baseball, and naturally sun-burn!

May 23 there was a sophomore tea --girls' tea I should say. It was sponsored by the Y-teens and held in the auditorium. It was lots of fun. There was a skit, a dance, some songs and a lot of other things, all done by sophomore girls.

Also May 23 was the 8th grade banquet. From what I heard, it was pretty nifty. A couple of boys pantomimed a record, some of the girls sang "Lollipop," there was a skit, and one of the boys even read a poem telling why he liked school(?).

The TEEN CLUB is coming along pretty well. A few weeks ago they went roller skating together. They plan to go somewhere once a month, and every Fri. nite they go to one of the members' homes. Dan O. is president, Gloria is secretary and Sue P. is the treasurer.

Russell Simonson, who used to live in Naperville, now lives in Woodridge.

Girl Scout News

A strictly-for-pleasure investment as proposed by the Girl Scouts of DuPage County Council will yield dividends collectable by 12,500 Girl Scouts.

Not one, but six nights right through the summer months the Girl Scouts of DuPage County Council have bought the house" at Melody Top tent theater in Hillside.

It will be a gala music-filled summer for patrons and a profitable venture for the Girl Scouts if they succeed in selling all 12,756 tickets at $1.95, $2.95 and $3.95.

No small undertaking, this, but with all Girl Scout leaders and adults intent upon providing needed funds for the Girl Scouts in the DuPage Council, it's one that is likely to succeed.

Melody Top shows are all top flight musicals and this season are drawing such name stars as Howard Keel, Mimi Hines and Phil Ford, Earl Wrightson and Jane Morgan, comedienne Phyllis Diller, Arlene Dahl and veteran Walter Slezak.

Dates which the Girl Scouts hope will be marked on every calendar are: Monday, June 18, "Carousel"; Saturday, June 30, "Hit the Deck"; Sunday, July 15, "Kiss Me Kate"; Saturday, Aug. 4, "Wonderful Town"; Sunday, August 19, "One Touch of Venus"; and Monday, Aug. 27, "Fanny".

All seats are reserved and orders will be filled as they come into the office of the Girl Scouts of DuPage County Council, 426 Main St., Glen Ellyn, Illinois.

8th Graders Tour Capitol

By Ramona Kinser

Twenty-one tired, but happy, eighth graders and four chaperones, Mrs. Jean Ortman, Mrs. Dorothy Salisbury, eighth grade teacher Thomas Tousignant, and physical education instructor Henry Wolf, returned from their two-day Springfield trip, Thurs., May 10, at 9:10 p.m. Pre-arranged chauffeurs whisked them from the Joliet railroad station back to Woodridge.

Many families had to wait till the following morning to hear about the teens' tours through the capital city. (Bed never looked so inviting!)

Like typical tourists, they were well equipped with cameras and used them on all their junkets, except one. At Lincoln's home in Springfield they were prohibited from taking pictures because of the danger of fire to Lincoln treasures by exploding flashbulbs. The group graciously accepted this edict listening attentively as their guide described the surroundings.

From there they proceeded across the street to a museum dedicated to Lincolniana. Here a wax replica of the 16th president startled many by its life-likeness, the hands being actual impressions of the Great Emancipator's hands. The boys especially enjoyed viewing uniforms and firearms from Civil War days that are on display.

Next on their itinerary was a visit to the Lincoln Monument. Here is located the mausoleum containing the remains of Lincoln, his wife and 3 of his 4 children. A giant statue of Lincoln, which by touching its nose is alleged to bring good luck, had the youngsters boosting one another up in an effort to attain good fortune.

At the end of the first day the group went bowling and had a ball. The real swinger down the lanes was Bill Barkauski who rolled up a high score of 194! While bowling they were praised by lane personnel as the best behaved group in 2 years. (They were so good you could hear the pins drop).

The chaperones also received compliments from hotel employees and train conductors about the students' behavior, and they are very proud of the youngsters.

On the second day the sight-seers toured the Capitol building, home of senate chambers, house of representatives and the governor's office. Two slight disappointments were the fact that they could not witness the senate in session because it meets during odd years, and that had they written requesting an audience, they would have been able to meet Governor Kerner.

However, the beauty and solemnity of the building compensated their loss. They were impressed by 4 huge chandeliers in the house chambers each comprised of 600 saberlike crystal droplets, which are individually washed. (Quite a housekeeping chore!) They learned that prisoners from Joliet State Penitentiary helped build the Capitol using limestone quarried in the Joliet area. They also hand-wrought the beautiful carvings, which are everywhere in the building taking 21 years to finish the job. Also impressive were the statues of Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas facing each other just as they did during the Great Debates.

Next they visited the Centennial building where is housed the Lincoln Library containing many letters, newspapers and memorabilia from Lincoln's time.

A bus trip to New Salem, 15 miles from Springfield, climaxed the day. This is the reconstructed town where Lincoln managed a general store and served as postmaster and deputy surveyor. It was here, also, that he studied law preparing for the day in 1837 when he moved to Springfield to start his practice. It was largely through Lincoln's efforts that the state capital was moved to Springfield from Vandalia, another reason why he is a favorite son.

Aside from the impressive sights, the teens will not soon forget their meals. The coke-and-chip set ate often and well, even topping off a well-balanced breakfast (which most of them do not touch at home) with ice cream for dessert!

They had an unforgettable time.

Garden Club Elects Next Years Officers

The Woodridge Garden Club held its May meeting on the 9th in the home of Dorothy and Dan Hollowell. During the business portion of the meeting, plans were discussed about the coming pot-luck supper in June. Elections were held for the next year's officers; those elected were: President, Lois Demmin; Vice-president, Marie Di Francesco; Secretary, Nancy Wendt and treasurer, Mary Hill.

A proposal was presented by Nancy O'Connell on behalf of the WAA for the purpose of beautifying the main entrance of Woodridge. The WAA and the builder have offered to purchase shrubs and the Garden Club will be responsible for the planting of the shrubs and the ball field side of the entrance.

Mrs. W. F. Kaiser, a well known flower arranger and judge of flower shows, gave a short lesson on the basic construction of flower arrangements, and the members put to practice the lessons they learned. Flowers for the occasion were donated by Dave's Flower Shop, Naperville, and Herrick's Florist, Downers Grove.

DGHS Journal

By Rick Brickwell

As the prospect of summer vacation begins to make itself evident in the corridors of Downers Grove High School, the more enjoyable part of the school year arrives. The fun of this time is overshadowed only by the coming of final exams and the 600 yard run.

Among the many banquets and picnics were the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) picnic, the Future Nurses of America (FNA) potluck, the Drama Club Award Dinner, the Sophomore Tea, the Latin Club Roman Banquet, the Cauldron Banquet and the Hi-Y Merit Banquet.

June 2 is the date for the Senior Prom, "Perspectives." The dance will be held from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight and eastward.

On May 18 a group of about 30 members of the DGHS Drama Club traveled to the Shubert Theater in Chicago to see the musical play, "Sound of Music." The trip was arranged through club sponsor, Marjorie Wood, and the "First Nighters" division of the club.

The results of the elections for next year's junior class officers are in. President is Charles Romeo, vice president is Bill Howerton, Kent Anderson is secretary, and Craig Greenwood is treasurer.

Students are now looking ahead to the 1962 summer school program. Aside from the standard summer courses, a three week study in music theory will be taught by Barbara Barnes.

A banquet was held recently for those teachers who will be leaving at the end of the '61-'62 school year. Among these teachers are Leigh Heller who teaches physical education, spanish teacher Collette Garimaldi, Julianne Lawler who teaches Latin I, and physical education teacher, Guy Wellman.

ioed Windermere Hightower, clad in flowing black cape, stovepipe hat and inevitable walking stick.

He turns out to be an old "friend" of Hiram's who reminds the rancher that he is a fugitive from justice. An extension of shelter, Hightower says, will serve to silence him. The villain even offers to help the Abernathys out of their financial straits. (In one of his hilarious "whispered" asides, Hightower reveals his plan to leave them no finances to worry about.) Al Zettler, in a veritable vehicle for his talent, was soundly booed and hissed, testimony to his effectiveness.

Next to arrive at what must have been a hotel-sized ranch house by the time all the characters were ensconced is daughter Aurelia Abernathy - replete with finishing touches from an eastern school. With her is her train companion, a sweet young thing all alone in the world, having lost her parents at sea during a gale.

Enter the heroine - Melody Lane! Sad sweet Melody (ably portrayed by Faye Hoffman) changes her tune when she meets the cause of the curse she carries within her heart - Windermere Hightower, the husband she fled immediately after the wedding ceremony upon learning what a scoundrel he was.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, we meet hero Lucius Goodenough (Jim Fox) was good enough in this role to convince us he was type cast, who upon seeing the beautiful Melody, decides they would make a good duet.

Neighbor Nellie Blythe, played with spirit by Barbara Cooling, sets the stage for Melody to linger on by revealing the school needs a teacher desperately. (You suspected, of course, that Melody is a schoolmarm?)

At the same time gullible Aurelia believes the blandishments of the bigamous blackheart (Hightower), who is really married to "Muriel Atkins" (Joan McGovern), bogus victim of the masked train robber, who arrives at the ranch to help frame our hero. (Are you still with me?)

Sheriff Battle Axe Ammie (sharply portrayed by Joann Baaske) is foiled in her attempt to capture the robber, when Lucius with the help of Red Wing, Indian servant girl (Eunice Lee), catches the villain at an auspicious moment. He had just told Melody they were not truly married.

To further resolve the problems, Aloysius Abernathy (Bill Law), Hiram and Sara's son who had not been home in 30 years, returns. A pecunious prodigal, he reveals that not only is Hiram no longer a wanted man (someone else confessed the crime), but that he himself is indeed the long wanted father of Melody Lane, thus preventing her from being an "orphan of the storm".

Not only did the cast do a commendable job under the excellent direction of Bob Jensen, but costumes and props were expertly made.

Let's have an encore!

Negotiations Bog Down

issued by the board. Said retraction to be made through the same agencies as originally used.

- The Board shall be free to use the above mentioned funds in any manner or for any purpose it sees fit.
- The developer declares the previous contract of no further force and effect, but states his intention to continue the payment of $200 per house through Unit #4 and each succeeding unit providing that the school board use the funds from unit #3 in a manner in keeping with the developer's publicly stated position, i. e. monies to be used for the benefit of the Woodridge school.

At its first meeting in May, the school board drew up a clarification of its previous release in an effort to resolve the situation. This new release, which was not yet made public, reads as follows:

"The impression that the withholding of funds by the Woodridge Developer, Surety Builders, caused the recent proposed cutback in schoolroom construction at the Woodridge School is deeply regretted by the School Board. The fact was that the Board saw no way of financing the entire job at the time the decision was made. When a practical way was later devised, the Board acted to rescind its previous order. The School Board is confident that future requirements for District 68 schools will be met by careful study and economies, and by cooperation with the Woodridge Developer, Surety Builders, and other subdivision developers in the area."

John Dahlberg said he contacted Surety and informed them of the contents of the proposed release, and was told it was unacceptable.

Further attempts were made by Dahlberg to come to an agreement. The board met on May 21 to decide whether to continue negotiations or let the matter drop and try to get along without the money. However, 3 members of the board, Al Olsen, Lew Benckendorf and Ned Hill, were unable to attend the meeting and the problem was tabled until the next meeting, which is to be held June 4.
