

4th Of July Picnic Plans Announced

Following is the schedule of events for the 3rd annual Independence Day Celebration, co-sponsored this year by the Woodridge Athletic Association and Woodridge VFW Post 4739.

New School Lunch Program Initiated

The district 68 school board has adopted a revised lunch program for both schools in the district.

Students living within 6 mile of Woodridge school (unit #2) will be required to go home for lunch. This distance takes in all homes east of Woodridge dr. to the school. Children whose homes are in unit #1 (or west of Woodridge dr.) will be permitted to eat at school, divided among 5 or 6 rooms with a teacher to supervise each room.

Students from unit #1 wishing to lunch at home will be given permission to do so.

The new plan will affect about 175 students living in unit #2, while approximately 150 from unit #1 will remain at school.

No Goodrich student will be required to go home for lunch because of the school's location on 2 main highways.

Grades 1 through 4 will have lunch from 12 p.m. to 12:25 p.m., while the upper grades have recess. Based on projected enrollment, Goodrich will have approximately 105 students in this lunch group.

The lunch period for grades 5 through 8, an estimated 85 students, will be from 12:25 p.m. to 12:50 p.m. with the lower grades at recess.

To meet school requirements of 5 hrs. per day, school will be in session until 3:30 p.m.

The new school schedule will be as follows:

School Addition Progresses

NEARING COMPLETION - Pictured is the north wing addition to Woodridge School. Both additions, totaling eight rooms, are scheduled for August completion.

Wight and Associates, architect for the classroom additions at Woodridge school, reports that barring unforeseen developments, construction will be completed in Aug.

Work on foundations was begun in February and backfill completed early in March. This laid the base for steel work, door frames, masonry and roof deck, jobs which were finished in April, while the roofing, metal sash work, and glazing were well under way in May.

Millwork, painting and work on chalk boards, planned for June, were delayed due to a strike in the roofing industry.

Four Injured In 2 Car Collision At 75th St.

BY SUE TOWNER

Tues., June 19, a car driven by Mrs. Gen Munson, 2920 - 76 st. was involved in a collision at the intersection of Janes rd. and 75th st.

The driver of the other car is Kenneth Salus, 19, of 409 1/2 Maple Downers Grove. Riding in Mrs. Munson's car were Mildred Chrastka and her five year old son, James, of 2923 Westridge.

All parties involved were taken to Hinsdale Hospital where Salus was given emergency treatment for cuts and bruises and released.

Mrs. Munson was admitted with multiple lacerations, abrasions and contusions. Mrs. Chrastka suffered a fractured hip and rib fractures. James, whose condition was first listed as critical, suffered a skull fracture and scalp lacerations. Last Thursday following surgery, hospital officials ruled his condition "much improved".

Woodridge firemen were called to give aid and wash gas off the street.

Village President Interviewed By WNR

BY RAMONA KINSER

An interview with Village President William T. Roberts, Sun., June 17, to ascertain developments in various fields of interest to the community touched on the the following topics:

Proposed new subdivision: Roberts stated that at present the village board is going over ordinances and the building code with Winston-Muss Corporation's engineers and planner, Carl Gardner and Associates. He expected their master plan to be available for review within 10 days.

Advantages: "We welcome annexation", said Roberts speaking for the board. Annexation, which would be accomplished before construction begins, would create healthy competition between the two builders, he pointed out.

With the Winston Park Estates addition, the shopping center should be a reality in about a year, he said. His explanation was that originally chain stores required 500 homes to operate; now 900 is considered minimum, because the larger centers attract part of the trade.

The higher cost of homes in the new area will bring in more revenue per home to the village.

Disadvantages: With the village spread over a greater area, there will be further policing problems, the village president said. "Hiring a full-time man, which we will be doing, will help, but it will still be difficult".

Anderson Pitches No-Hit Game

Earl Anderson, right, and his proud brother, Michael.

Earl Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson of 7649 Sprucewood, became the second pitcher in the 3-year history of the WAA boys league to pitch a no-hitter. The feat was performed on June 10, as his team, the Yankees, beat the Braves 6-2.

Jim Montello threw the first no hitter last year, also for the Yankees.

Actually there was another no-hitter pitched earlier this year, but 3 different pitchers were involved in that one. John Narducci, manager of the Yanks, said Anderson pitched a good game all the way, with the exception of some wildness. But, Narducci added, Earl is a very conscientious ball player. This was the first game that Anderson had started as a pitcher.

Facts On New Subdivision

"Winston Park Estates", the new subdivision between "Woodridge", and "The Meadows" in Lisle, appears to be another of many successful ventures of the Winston-Muss organization.

In an interview with their public relations firm, Horshe, Rotman and Druck, the WNR was given the following information:

In addition to a plan for completion of 2,000 homes on the 560 acre site, in four years, the builder also estimates an eventual population of 20,000 in a community with a recreation center (Rec. building, pool(s), tennis courts, etc.) though no shopping center is planned.

Ground breaking is set for Aug. 1, with models ready by the end of winter, and first families in by next June. Price range is 18 - 21 thousand and models will be similar to others the builder has built in the surrounding suburbs.

Acquisition of land cost $1,200,000, and the total investment will total 40 million dollars.

The Winston-Muss group is run by the current subdivider's father David, and Norman K. Winston, Chairman of the Board.

The son, Joshua, is a graduate of Harvard Business school, and a former marine. He is 28 years old.

21 Graduate From Woodridge School

One feature of the 1962 Woodridge School graduation ceremony was Larry Ortman reading the class prophecy he wrote, humorously predicting careers of fellow classmates.

With sighs of relief and eager anticipation for the future, 21 girls and boys participated in graduation exercises at Woodridge school June 14.

The invocation, delivered by Rev. John E. Swanson, followed by two selections by the student choir and a cordial "welcome" by Susan Przybylski began a thoroughly enjoyable program. "The Educated Man", appropriately, was the theme chosen by class valedictorian, Charles Groth. The primary address was given by guest-speaker Rev. St. Angela, chaplain of North Central College, Naperville.

The remainder of the program belonged entirely to the graduates themselves. The class history, prophecy and will were read by Anthony Narducci, Larry Ortman, and Bertha Harwell, respectively.

Presentation of the class gift, a check in the amount of $50 to be used to purchase a podium, was made by James Smith and accepted by Larry Sarla, of the seventh grade. Acknowledgements were made by David Krueger, followed by the long awaited presentation of diplomas by John Dahlberg, president of district 68 board of education and Mrs. Elizabeth Crane, superintendent - principal.

The auditorium and stage decorations were thoughtfully conceived and provided by the seventh grade mothers in cooperation with Mrs. Jean Ortman and Mrs. Dorothy Salisbury, eighth grade room mothers.

EDITORIAL

The village board and officials of the Winston-Muss Corporation are reported making arrangements for annexation of the 560-acre site of Winston Park Estates, a planned 2000-home subdivision. Each village taxpayer has a vital stake in these negotiations.

If handled properly, both the citizens of Woodridge and Winston-Muss Corp. stand to gain. For Woodridge, growth is good because of the additional control we will have over the area affecting us. Additional revenue will be made available to us through building permits and taxes. The possibility for a shopping center in Woodridge is increased because of the additional homes.

As to the disadvantages to Woodridge, there is the fact that we will have to provide police protection and road maintenance for the new area. Unfortunately, we have not yet been able to solve these problems in our own area.

Annexation, as we see it, offers only advantages to Winston-Muss Corporation. The apparent advantages are as follows: Woodridge zoning will permit about five homes per acre as compared with only three homes per acre under the present county zoning regulations. Annexation will provide Winston-Muss with a ready-made village to offer prospective home buyers. Most home purchasers consider the existence of an established municipal government to be a definite plus.

These are valuable, substantial advantages for Winston-Muss, and Woodridge should obtain valuable, substantial considerations as a requirement for annexation. An iron-clad contract should be required to guarantee the performance of both parties.

As in all business deals, intent is paramount. However, intent and events change; the purpose of a contract is to protect everyone's rights, regardless.

As recent events have shown, contracts can prove unenforceable. However, in this case there is definite legal consideration for both Woodridge and Winston-Muss.

Therefore, the village board should consider a contract guaranteeing Woodridge either substantial and definite community improvements or charging a fee for annexation as part and parcel of this good business deal.

Enrollment of more children in the school district will continue the school problem, Roberts added, saying that though Winston-Muss will probably donate land to the district, the major disadvantage will be the additional tax burden to the people. Annexation, per se, does not create this problem, however; the development would still be in district 68.

Police Chief: The village president (currently acting chief of police) reported that a police chief will probably be hired at the next board meeting. One of nine applicants for the job met all qualifications and passed a very stringent test. "We met with him this week to present our program," Roberts went on, "and if he accepts our final offer, he will be recommended at the next meeting."

Industrial Site: Roberts disclosed that a plastics manufacturing plant employing about 75 skilled and semi-skilled workers is considering the proposed industrial zone on route 53 as a possible location. The village is actively seeking industry for this area because it would increase village revenues and property values and ease the tax burden. Additional property along 53, south of the present industrial area and sewage plant, is expected to be annexed and rezoned for industry within the year. He cited this as an ideal area for industry with good transportation, improved property and an existing work force available.

Agenda for Village Board Meetings: The village president said a copy of the agenda could not be made available to the WNR in time for publication (an effort by the WNR to promote better attendance at meetings), since they are not made up until Mon., preceding the meeting and distributed to trustees on Wed. Items on the agenda are discussed though a vote is not mandatory. "It is not fair to the trustees to have to make snap decisions," Roberts stated. "This eliminates errors through lack of information."

Sidewalks and the Subdivision Control Ordinance: Roberts assured us the interpretation that sidewalks need be added in new and subsequent units at the discretion of the plan commission was correct. The commission does not require sidewalks of the present builder in units currently under construction. He said the Winston Park builder plans sidewalks and street lights.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the school board of district 68, I wish to thank the Woodridge Garden Club; its president, Lois Demming; and other citizens who did such an excellent job with the Woodridge school landscaping.

John Dahlberg
President, Board of Education

ST.SCHOLASTICA SCHOOL REGISTRATION
Registration for St. Scholastica School will be held Sunday morning, July 1, at Sacred Heart Convent, Maple ave., Lisle.

Emergency Measures: "Our present system has fallen short; service is slower than it should be," said the village president. A full-time chief will enhance phone answering service, though he will undoubtedly initiate a different arrangement. In the interim in event of emergency, a call to the Woodridge police department will set off the fire siren with both police and firemen answering. An inhalator is available and also the squad car to carry anyone with injuries. The village has also arranged with two Downers Grove ambulance services, who say they can come out in 15 minutes. A separate call to them is necessary.

Overload-limit trucks: The village clerk does not issue permits for trucks exceeding 4 tons to use village streets - they are issued by the public works department. "Our load limit is too restrictive", explained Roberts. "Our streets are made for more than 4 tons". He expects the rate to be adjusted.

Roads: "Condition of the streets in unit 3 is due to defective workmanship. Units 1 and 2 are due to wear and tear", Roberts remarked. He pointed out that there are legal questions which the village attorney is investigating concerning whether the 18 month bonds covering units 1 and 2 have expired. The streets in unit 3 are practically all rejected, but the village holds the bond. He said the builder was to start reconstructing these streets to bring them up to certain specifications within the week. These specifications remain as originally submitted. Consoer and Townsend, who are now engineers for the village, will in the future go over all specifications before board acceptance.

Parents To Purchase School Supplies Next Year

At an adjourned meeting held Mon., June 18, the school board of district 68 decided to let parents purchase school supplies for their own children, rather than have the supplies be included in the book rental fee as was done in the past.

Approximately half of the $16.00 fee that was charged last year was for supplies.

The board explained that this action was made necessary because of the trouble they have had in trying to collect last year's fees.

The board also decided to turn the list of delinquent accounts over to their attorney for action.

In other actions, the board deferred the picking of a booking service to the next meeting. Also, no decision was made on the retraction of the news release demanded by Surety Builders. The Public Relations Committee had not yet met to make a decision on the problem so the matter was again tabled to a later meeting.

Tattle Tales Sue Towner

A surprise shower was held June 12 at the home of Dee Stelling, 7647 Catalpa. Recipients of this pleasant surprise were Betty Fritz, 7643 Catalpa, and Sue Aufmann, 7629 Catalpa. Others in attendance were Mrs. Thomas Fritz, paternal grandmother of Lee Fritz Jr., and Godmother Purcel Norma Schirmacher, Lee Sobota, Fran Oldenburg, Marge, Sullivan, Marge Sauer, Elaine Mielen, Barbara Bonk, Mary Catherine Himes, and Carolyn Redmond.

The real surprise is that Sue Aufmann expecting her third child, has never had a shower before!! Another first for Woodridge???

Joan McGovern, 7628 Catalpa, also had a shower for Betty Fritz, June 11. That one was attended by Mary Catherine Himes, Dee Stelling, Peggy Bailey, Evelyn Mullins and Crystal Litavsky.

Frank Dopp, of Jonquil South, and daughter Mary Ellen had an interesting house guest for about two weeks. Frank's sister Katherine (Mrs. Eden Bast) arrived June 1 and stayed with them until the 13th. Mrs. Bast, her husband and six children make their home in Lima, Peru. Brother and sister had not seen each other for several years and the only thing spoiling the otherwise happy reunion was the fact that Frank's wife Mary Ann is still hospitalized.

Ever thoughtful Louise Schneider attended Woodridge schools graduation program "bearing gifts" in the form of a large cake to be enjoyed by the teachers, board members, and administration staff after the program.

Apologies to all the gals on Forest Glen for the mix up last issue on the birthday item, particularly to Laverne Tucker who was listed as having attended, but did not!

Flo Benckendorf and Lois Demmin were treated to dinner at Sweden House last week by some of the mothers of girls in their Brownie troop. Attending were: Helga Scudder, Bonnie Rojic, Barb Cooling, Rose Freeman, Dee Warner and Rosemary Goluch.

Besides dinner, Flo and Lois were presented with gift certificates for their efforts during the past year.

On June 10th, Ted and Delores Palcuk of 3007 W. 75th st. celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary by having a party for their family, friends and neighbors. The villagers that helped them to celebrate were Claude and Phyllis Roberts, Richard and Eunice Lee, Bob and Ev Arnouil, Shirley and Bill Miller, Billie and Dominic Sanchez, and Arlisle and Bill Roberts.

4-H Exhibits Star At Fair

When visitors to the DuPage County Fair, July 26-29 this year, see row upon row of home baked cookies, rolls, cakes, brownies and pies, their mouths may water and they may be filled with admiration for the youthful talents which created the goodies.

But, do they realize the many hours of practice and learning that precedes such a display? Home economics and agriculture 4-H members, from the age of 10 to 21, don't just happen. Leadership and direction behind them is responsible for the end result to be seen at the fairgrounds on Manchester road, just east of County Farm Road, north of Wheaton.

Last year 65,000 visited the fair grounds to join in the fun and to "oh" and "ah" over the exhibits which range from honey extracted by a 4-H'er with an apiary project, to zinnias in a flower arrangement.

Both home ec 4-H members and the ag club members look forward to, plan and prepare for these days annually when they convene on the spacious fair grounds to have their year's accomplishments judged impartially by experts in each field.

Nor is their range of interests limited for, from grand champion steer to grand champion flower exhibit, awards will be given in all fields of 4-H endeavor. Open class competition, too, is part of the fair contest with limitation set only on age. No one over 21 may enter for this is a youth fair.

City folks and suburbanites seem to enjoy the fine animal exhibits which are part of the fair each year. Like experts, themselves, they crowd around pens and cages indulging in amateur judging of the exhibits.

The distaff side of the family, particularly, looks forward to sitting comfortably out of the hot sun under the big entertainment tent and watching hundreds of 4-H girls parade across the stage they have made.

At 1 p.m. Fri., July 27, the 4-H State Fair clothing revue selections will be made and that night at 8 p.m. the girls will present a 4-H clothing revue before the public.

From early morning until late at night each of the four days, activity will be high and some program or judging will be taking place. In addition, the midway has its rides and games, and Saturday and Sunday the Horse Show and the Sunday only annual Antique Auto Show will draw large crowds to the fair grounds.

Queen Sought For Fair

A lovely tiara crown, a trophy cup, long stemmed roses and $100 from the DuPage County Fair Association are among the awards awaiting the lovely girl who will be judged Miss DuPage County Fair-1962 on July 26. The Fair continues through July 29.

With July 1 set as deadline for entries, sponsors are urged to submit the names of candidates promptly. Any group, business or organization may sponsor a queen candidate for an entry fee of $10.

Contest rules state that candidates must be a resident of DuPage County, single and never have been married, and between the ages of 17 and 22 years inclusive on the date of the State Fair queen contest next January. Professional models are not eligible.

The queen will reign over fair festivities during the entire four days on the fairgrounds at Manchester road, east of County Farm road, north of Wheaton.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NEWS

Those who have not registered may register at Woodridge school on the opening day of V.C.S.

Our last 4-H meeting to be held in the school until September was on June 12. Talks were given by George Nees on gardens, and by Judy Redfield on photography. Our music appreciation was ended with two reports. One by George Nees on "Tea For Two", the other by Susan Amoruso on "I Love A Parade".

We discussed and decided on having a tour on June 29. We will have a softball game at the next meeting. The Share-The-Fun group will have a dress rehearsal for the club on June 26 and put their act on for the county on June 27. All those enrolled in electrical school will take a tour to see a steam turbine on June 23.

Next meeting will be at Mary Vandeleur's house, 7830 Westview, at 7:30 p.m. on June 26; softball game, 6 p.m. at the field.

Teen talk

by Barbara Arnouil

Well, I suppose everyone is happy that school is over - After 9 hectic months of it I can imagine why!! There are a few of the high school kids going to summer school for one reason or another - It hasn't been too hot so I guess they're surviving.

After the 8th grade graduation, Toni Narducci had a party - I think it was a surprise party.

James Montello had a party also. His was on a Saturday night. I heard it was a graduation party but all the graduates weren't there, and all the kids there weren't graduates - so figure it out for yourself.

A couple Fridays ago the Sanchez had a party - outside no less. It was to celebrate Jesse's graduation and Dom's 15th birthday. That same night Tom Roberts (who lives right next door) had a party.

Girls' softball has started already and it's really a lot of fun. The girls 11 and under play on Tuesday and Thursday and the older girls play on Monday and Wednesday. Friday anyone can play - Any girls, I mean!!!

ODDS and ENDS

BY MARVIN WIGGINS

It is almost a "status-thing" that if one fishes, he fishes with lures and from a boat. If he uses live bait at all - he does not admit it. I have cast plugs between lily pads, under overhanging branches, into caves, and behind partly submerged rocks. I even occasionally catch a fish this way. But I must confess that I do best by using live bait. I believe there are some "secrets" to the game. I will list them and see if you agree.

FISH: Only an angry fish will snap or strike at its food. A fish is more apt to swim very close to its prey and vacuum it in. It then rolls the prey gently in its mouth. A fin, a bone, a claw, or a twig caught in its throat would cause the fish to become waterlogged. Fish line of less than five mils in diameter is readily swallowed. Fish are very sensitive to line of more than eight mils, rejecting such line as it would reject a twig. An oversize hook becomes a sharp fin to a fish. (It is unlikely that a fish ever recognizes a hook as a hook.) Prey unacceptable to the fish is blown out of its mouth. Underwater pictures have proven that this process often occurs, without so much as a tell-tale motion on the part of an attached "float" or "bobber".

Fish are subject to intense curiosity and fear. Objects sinking very fast will scare fish. Objects sinking slower than two or three feet a minute, will attract fish from long distances. Fine sand, broadcast over a small area, has attracted fish from 200 feet away. The natural downward drift of a night crawler on a small hook and no sinker, is an effective attractor. Fish nearly always follow a lure reeled slowly in. Often the attention and curiosity of a fish may be gained by a lure; to catch him will call for a follow-up cast of live bait.

Fortunately, though the fish are easily scared, they have short memories. Bass, spooked from his hiding place will return within twenty minutes. Bass often hide-in-waiting at the waters edge at night, in order to feed on insects and frogs. Approaching footsteps will cause the bass to leave in a noisy panic. Such short walks can often pin-point several large bass.

Fish cannot hear sounds made above the water. Vibrations on land or water can be sensed, however. Carp, when surfacing, can see and recognize a human at 150 feet. Bass and blue gills have somewhat less than 20 foot range.

Finally, fish have a good sense of smell. They do not like the odor of tobacco, nor of nightcrawlers kept at a temperature of more than 50° F. They do like the odor of anise and of bread.

LAKES: Stream currents, prevailing winds, and overflows will cause certain areas of lakes to have concentrations of natural food. These areas are where the fish are apt to be.

You arrive at a lake for the first time. You may attempt to judge, from local factors, where food would naturally stack in the lake. Sadly, I must say that there is an easier way. The natives will have already found the best spots. These spots are pin-pointed by beer cans, pop bottles, etc.

There are several important layers to any deep lake. First, there is the immediate surface or interface layer. Fish will surface - feed well when the surface of the water and the air temperature are the same. They will swirl the water at this time. The surface normally, however, runs colder than the air above it because of evaporation. At mid-day the immediate surface will also be cooler than the water just below the surface.

The surface temperature varies greatly from place to place on the lake, depending on wind, shade, and sheltered location. Approaching thunderstorms may raise the humidity, and drop the evaporation rate, which in turn will raise the interface temperature to meet the cooling air. Surface feeding before a thunderstorm, therefore, is common. Should the surface interface be warmer than air temperature, fish will jump. Jumping fish are catchable, but not nearly so easily as swirling fish. More next edition!

Wagemann Withdraws As County Clerk Candidate

Elmer J. Hoffman, Republican party county chairman, has announced Clarence Wagemann's withdrawal as candidate for the office of DuPage county clerk.

A special meeting of the Republican Central Committee was called for June 25 to name a successor.

It was reported by both Hoffman and Wagemann that personal problems are the reason for the withdrawal.

Wagemann has been serving as DuPage county clerk pro tem since his appointment to that post 18 months ago by the county board of supervisors. He was appointed to this post following the death of his father who had held the office for 40 years.
