

Winston-Muss Seeks Rezoning From County

Mrs. F. W. Hawken presents Mrs. Crane with silver bowl on behalf of Mothers club and Community club.

Elizabeth M. Crane Annex Dedicated

Approximately 200 people attended the open house and retirement tea at Goodrich school June 9. John Dahlberg, president of district 68 board of education, announced that on completion of the remodeling of the section of Goodrich school which comprised the original two-room school, the section would be dedicated as the "Elizabeth M. Crane Annex." Mrs. Crane began her teaching at Goodrich in those two rooms 11 years ago before the school was expanded. A plaque will be displayed designating the annex.

Dahlberg also announced that library books purchased for Goodrich next year will bear an inscription honoring Mrs. Crane who, during her years in the district, has made a constant effort to increase and improve library facilities.

Mrs. F. W. Hawken, president of the Goodrich mothers' club, and Mrs. Gerald Ward, president of the community club, presented Mrs. Crane with an inscribed silver bowl on behalf of the two organizations. Entertainment included a selection by five Goodrich girls who sang "Where You Walk." Mrs. Chuck Bill gave a violin solo, with a piano accompaniment by Mrs. Will Mason. Alfred Olsen, a member of the school board, called on several people for comments regarding memories of Mrs. Crane. These were recorded on tape and the tape will be presented to her.

Reject Unit 5 Plat

At the board meeting June 20 the plat of unit five submitted by Surety Development Corp. was turned down. Objections to the plat had to do with the typical lot dimensions not being shown, the names and addresses of the owner or sub-divider and designer of the plan not being indicated, date of preparation of the plat missing, and street right of ways being shown as 60' instead of 66' as called for in the subdivision control ordinance.

Further objections concerned length of cul de sacs, street jogs, block standards and lot standards. The plat was also objected to on the grounds that there was no indication of public land. The applicable paragraphs in the ordinance were quoted by number and Trustee Marvin Wiggins explained them.

The floor was then opened to Thomas Church of the plan commission and Albert Kaufman of Surety Development. Church pointed out that the plat submitted was preliminary and that only two sections of the subdivision control ordinance apply to preliminary plats. He said many of the board's objections were taken from sections which only apply to final plats.

Kaufman asked Trustee Marvin Wiggins why he had avoided mentioning public lands in his explanation when this was the real reason the plat was being rejected. Trustee Wiggins said the technical objections were sufficient for rejections. If the village needs land, he said, it can be obtained through condemnation.

Kaufman said a board can always find small errors in a plat and that he had asked this board to take a positive rather than a negative approach in their dealings with Surety but that apparently the board had taken the negative. He also said that

More than 100 persons were present at the Lisle high school June 13 to hear Joshua Muss of the Winston-Muss Corp. outline his firm's plans for the development of land to the north of Woodridge.

In addition to a request for a change in county zoning from R2 to R3, Winston-Muss is asking for special variations in lot size and yard and set-back requirements. Muss said that if these variations are granted, the area will be developed along the standards now being used in Woodridge. However, in the formal objection filed by James McClure, attorney for Woodridge, on behalf of the village, it is stated that these variations will permit development below the standards of Woodridge.

In reply to a question from a member of the county zoning board of appeals, Muss said that negotiations with Woodridge for annexation have ceased and that Winston-Muss feels the area could better be developed under county requirements. McClure said this was the first he knew of this.

In addition to Muss, those giving testimony for re-zoning were: LeRoy Rechenmacher, an attorney from Naperville; John Bloom, city planner with Carl Gardener and Assoc., and John Fulkman, a water engineer with Consoer, Townsend and Assoc. In a summation of their appeal, Rechenmacher said the zoning variations would allow for better site development and land usage; although the individual lots would be smaller than normal county R3, the density of population would not be greater because of land set aside for parks and schools.

Village Accepts Park Deeds

The village board held its first regular meeting on a third Thursday June 20. The meeting was convened at the village hall and, in the absence of President William Roberts, Trustee Edward Redmond was elected as chairman pro tem.

It was announced that the appropriation ordinance for the fiscal year 1963-64 would be presented, and for this reason the meeting would be moved to the school gym so that more people could attend. Upon reconvening at the school, Trustee Redmond was again elected chairman pro tem on advice of counsel, James McClure.

About 60 persons were present when the board moved to accept the deeds to the park. This motion was followed by another directing the attorney to record the deeds and pay the back taxes. At this point Trustee Leon Werch moved that the floor be open to public discussion. The floor was opened with a time limitation of ten minutes.

Objections Filed At Hearing

At the county zoning board of appeals hearing, June 13, both the village board and the plan commission of Woodridge filed formal objections to the request by Winston-Muss for re-zoning from R2 to R3 with special variations.

The objection of the village board was filed by James McClure and said, in part, that the zoning changes and variations were contrary to the Woodridge subdivision control and zoning ordinances and, because of the proximity of the development to Woodridge, these changes would "constitute a threat to the health, safety and general welfare of the citizens of the village".

The objection also pointed out that the village has been negotiating with Winston-Muss for some time for annexation of their area and that any benefits from annexation which might accrue to the village would be lost if zoning variations were granted, even if the village were to annex the area at a later date.

The plan commission's objections were filed by Thomas Church. It was the opinion of the commission that a development of this size and density would throw a heavy burden on the county and Woodridge police departments. Their objection said that the area would very likely become incorporated sometime in the future and that two villages so close together would not be in the best interests of the area.

The plan commission also felt that a better job of building inspection could be done by the village of Woodridge than by the county which is quite large and has a limited number of inspectors.

Trustees' Hearing Moved To Downers

The hearing for the five village trustees, who are charged with holding a public meeting that was not open to the public, has been moved to the court of Justice of the Peace John Cockrell in Downers Grove. The new date set for the hearing is Wed., July 3, at 2 p.m. Police Magistrate Walter Larson disqualified himself and transferred the case because he thought it would be in the best interests of justice.

St. Scholastica Receives $2500 Gift

Philip Zuccaro, on behalf of St. Scholastica men's club, presents $2,500 check to Father Kloepfer for the parish building fund as Paul Quinn (L) and Dick Roman (R) look on with pride. Check represents year's fund-raising efforts of club.

Educational Tax Increase Forseen

A tentative school budget indicates that an increase in the educational fund will be required. At the next regular meeting of the board of education Mon., July 8, at 8 p.m. at Woodridge school a tentative budget will be approved for presentation at a public hearing in Aug.

The need for additional teachers and teaching supplies necessitated by increased student enrollment has caused a sharp rise in operating expenses. To meet these expenses it has been necessary in the past two years to issue excessive amounts of Tax Anticipation Warrants. These warrants actually are a means of borrowing from next year's anticipated taxes to pay the expenses of the current year. The affect of this is to give the school district less money to pay for higher operating expenses for next year.

Also to be discussed at the meeting will be these subjects of concern to all citizens of the school district:

- (1) The status of the Winston-Muss development.
 - (2) Building remodeling of the Goodrich School.
 - (3) Future building requirements of the District.
- For any further information please call, J. Dahlberg EL5-2948.

SURVIVAL

The recent announcement by Winston-Muss that negotiations with Woodridge for annexation had ceased is alarming, especially when viewed with the village board's current attitude toward the present developer. While the board members may feel they have the good of the citizens at heart when they make unrealistic demands on developers, in the long run it is the citizens who will suffer if builders are not made welcome. It is the citizens who will have to pay double or even triple the present property taxes just to continue the services we now have. The possibility of getting a civic center then becomes very remote because of the increased tax load.

A village is a business. Like any other type of business it must have income to balance its expenses. The expenses of a village are the services it provides for its citizens. Its income is derived from many sources. In the case of a young, rapidly growing village such as Woodridge, one of the prime sources of income is building permits, which are paid by developers building in the village. For the fiscal year of 1962-63 more than 40% of the anticipated revenue for the general fund was expected from this source. The budget for the present fiscal year shows that better than half of the expenses will be paid for with building permit fees.

Older, more established villages which do not have much construction have two other very important sources of money which a young village does not: sales tax and taxes on industrial property. Someday, Woodridge will have both industry and retail business. When this happens building permits will not have the importance that they do today. But, in order to grow to that point, we must continue to build. And in order to meet our financial responsibilities during the growing years, we must have income from building permit fees. This calls for a businesslike working arrangement with developers. It does not mean that we must allow builders to do as they please, but at the same time we must create a favorable atmosphere in which they can build and sell homes. We hope the trustees will weigh their thoughts carefully before making decisions affecting developers.

"Take My Hand"

"Take My Hand," A pictorial representation of Mrs. Crane's dedication to youth.

Elizabeth M. Crane retired June 20. She and her husband are now in Dana, Indiana, in a new home in their old home town.

Mrs. Crane has devoted her adult life to teaching; her years of leave from the public schools were spent rearing her two daughters. Her interest and dedication toward district 68's growth and development have been that of a true educator--with emphasis not only on the mental development, but also on the moral development of each child as an individual.

She has always stood fast for the requirements she felt were needed to meet the challenge of a rapidly growing school district. She was thrown the challenge, accepted and met it with the enthusiasm of the educator she is. The WNR wishes Mr. and Mrs. Carl Crane happiness in their retirement.

NO PICNIC THIS YEAR

The 4th of July picnic, an annual event in Woodridge for the past three summers, apparently will not be held this year. This picnic has in the past been the high point of the summer's activities in Woodridge, and was the one occasion on which practically all the various organizations combined to work together in a common endeavor. Not only did the picnic provide a source of additional revenue for these organizations, it also served as a means of keeping our people off the highways during the dangerous holiday period by providing an incentive to stay in Woodridge. Last, but not least, the picnic was an enjoyable event, especially for the children.

One can only speculate as to why there will not be a picnic this year. Whether it is the political situation, a lack of interest on the part of the organizations who sponsored it in the past or some other reason, many of us will miss it.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

In the May 30 issue of the WNR there appeared a letter in reference to another letter appearing in the May 2 edition by "anonymous". In actuality, the letter from the three mesdames was directed to all the people in this village who show interest and pride in their homes and their village.

It was stated that one cannot judge by appearances alone. Well then, what do future home buyers judge on - home buyers of not only the new units, but also of the homes that we, the people of this village, might want to sell someday? It is probable to say that these buyers don't stop and talk with the residents, finding out their personal histories before buying. No, more than likely they'll drive through the village, and when they see unkept lawns, misplaced garbage cans, old junks, bikes, buggies, rusty lawn furniture, etc., they'll turn around and drive right out.

It's primarily not a matter of finances to keep a home presentable. It's more a matter of pride, a little hard work, and, true, a little sacrifice. A pound or two of rye grass seed is just about equivalent to a six-pack of beer, and about 50¢ will keep a lawn mower going for a full month.

In effect, people who neglect the appearance of their property are lowering the cash value of not only their home, but of yours and mine, too.

Some individuals have stated that dislike of unkept properties, etc., is a petty grievance. We, on the other hand, believe it is more of a crisis.

We're for keeping the cash value of our homes up, for keeping our self respect and keeping Woodridge a village in which we are proud to live. For those who don't much care, well, the only feasible answer is for them to MOVE.

We are also not anonymous,

Mr. and Mrs. John Ford
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rakunas
Mr. and Mrs. Al Schirmacher

During the month of July the Cancer Crusade in Woodridge will begin in force. The entire village will be canvassed by "block workers" asking you for your donation to stamp out this dread disease.

We are so close to learning the secrets of cancer, that it is predicted within the next few years, this disease, though not stamped out, will be virtually controlled to the point of being practically extinct. It will join the ranks of previous killers and cripplers such as polio (Salk vaccine), typhoid, diphtheria and Bubonic plague. Your contribution may some day save your life or that of loved ones close to you.

Did you know that the American Cancer society of DuPage county provides the following free services for cancer patients: Hospital beds, wheel chairs, walkers, portable commodes and other small sick-room equipment and dressings? Last year alone, there were 55,000 dressings given to 150 cancer patients in DuPage County. The DuPage county chapter also assisted "home" cancer patients with nursing care and counseling. Did you know that today one out of three cancer patients is cured, and that this could actually be cut down to one out of two? Several years ago, cancer was considered incurable and was a word that put fear into people's hearts and minds. Won't you please contribute what you can to stamp out this dread disease? I would like to thank the Womens Auxiliary of the VFW for their joint contribution as a civic organization in the village, and the following people who have agreed to be area captains in search of block workers: Mrs. Rose Freeman, Mrs. Rosemary Olesky, Mrs. Arlyle Roberts, Mrs. Fran Lins, Mrs. Pearl Werch, Mrs. Willa Ward, Mr. Al Raymond and my wife, Rosemarie. If anyone would like to volunteer as a collector, please contact the area captain in your area, or call me at W09-7039. I also want to thank, in advance, those people who have consented to be block workers.

Provide Cancer Data

Inquirers in and about Chicago have demonstrated an overwhelming interest in seeking the true facts about smoking and lung cancer, according to an announcement today by Dr. Glenn L. Judson, 103 Haven rd, Elmhurst, chairman of the board of the DuPage County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, 214 North Wheaton ave., Wheaton.

Chairman Judson says that calls are jamming the lines of the special number Franklin 2-9300--which features a two-minute recorded message by a noted authority on smoking and lung cancer. Since May 1, Chairman Judson reports, more than 40,000 calls have been made to this number, and this total is mounting daily. In addition, the Society is receiving hundreds of special calls and letters requesting further information.

Simply by dialing FR-2-9300, Dr. Judson explains, an individual can receive a recorded message by Warren H. Cole, M.D. noted authority on lung cancer. Dr. Cole is professor and head of the department of surgery at the University of Illinois

HS To Ask For 21 cent Hike

A 21¢ increase in the educational tax limit in Downers Grove community high school district 99 will be submitted to district voters at a referendum scheduled for Sat., Sept. 21.

The board of education emphasized the importance of additional funds if the present program is to be maintained. The current 76¢ limit was authorized in 1958. And since 1959 it has been necessary to levy the full amount yearly.

Winston M. Manning, board president, in a statement to the press last week, commented: "Mounting enrollments and higher costs are major factors back of our request for more funds. It is vital that we have the higher rate if we are to maintain the present program." Manning went on to emphasize that the higher rate has no connection with the building expansion and the second high school, planned for opening in Sept., 1964. A higher rate is imperative simply to maintain the present ratio of teachers to students regardless of whether students are housed in one building or two, he declared.

Supt. Glenn Pickrel referred to the district's "careful financial management" which he said has made it possible to operate close to the 76¢ rate limit over a five-year period. "But if we are to keep pace with today's world, we must continue to provide the best education possible for our young people," he emphasized. "The present rate is no longer sufficient."

A budget study preceded the final decision to seek the educational tax rate increase in Sept. This study showed that the educational fund will have an approximate $30,000 balance the end of this month, which also marks the close of the fiscal year. Next year's operating budget indicates that this balance will be exhausted and there will be a deficit.

Pickrel pointed out that the Downers Grove district is not the only high school in the west suburban area which has faced and met the problem of a higher educational rate limit. In the past year voters in three neighboring districts, Glenbard, York and Wheaton, have all approved rate increases.

Brilliant people talk about ideas.
Average people talk about things.
Small people talk about other people.

Park Deeds

McClure explained that the best procedure would be to redeem the park by paying the back taxes in the amount of $455.88, then, at a later date, file suit with the county to recover the money. He pointed out that this action should be taken before Sept. so that the park will not appear on future tax rolls. McClure said he spoke with the county Board of Review and had been informed that this body has no retroactive powers and could not refund back taxes. This could only be accomplished through suit.

Comment from the floor indicated concern for the village's financial ability to pay this large a sum and that the amount had not been budgeted. Treasurer Goldberg said the money could be paid from a contingency fund. Albert Kaufman of Surety Development asked McClure if he was aware of an opinion from Chicago Title and Trust stating that the village was the rightful owner of the park. McClure said he had not seen the opinion. Kaufman suggested that all interested parties get together and negotiate in order to avoid a suit.

The board then directed the attorney to record the deeds, investigate all means of clearing the land without paying the taxes and if no other means was available, to pay the back taxes. In a later interview with the WNR Kaufman said the deeds to the park have been available to the village since last year. All the village had to do to get them was to ask. He further said that to prevent any mix-up, he was happy to give the deeds to McClure with the stipulation that they be returned if the village did not want them.

Luncheon For Teachers

The Woodridge and Goodrich mothers club held the annual teachers luncheon at the Woodridge school on June 13.

It was a pot-luck luncheon with a variety of delicious foods, prepared and served by both mothers clubs.

Mr. Thomas Tousignant introduced Mrs. Elizabeth Crane and the teachers who are leaving. Mrs. Crane was presented a retirement gift from the teachers.

Following the luncheon a social hour was enjoyed by all.

Re-Zoning

In addition Winston-Muss will provide water and sewer connections for the present Goodrich school so that it may be expanded.

On the basis of this agreement with Winston-Muss, Dahlberg said the school board has no objection to the re-zoning and variations.

Objections to the re-zoning were many: most dealt with the planned development's not being in keeping with the present surroundings. It was felt by several people that property values would suffer. Objections were raised that the drilling of a 350' well would lower the water level to a point where individual home owners would have to dig deeper wells sometime in the future, although John Fulkman, water engineer, had previously stated that the well would have practically no effect on other wells in the area.

Many felt the zoning should remain as it was originally laid out in 1957 by Carl Gardener & Assoc. It was said that by maintaining R2 zoning the area could be sure of far fewer children in the schools. Others felt the developer would not be setting aside enough public land for schools and parks. One person objected on the basis that smaller and lower standard houses might be built if the first models do not sell readily. The R3 house-size requirements are less than Winston-Muss intends to build at this time.

When the chairman of the zoning board asked for a show of hands of objectors to the re-zoning, more than 100 persons were counted.

52 Graduate From District 68

June 14 and 15, the Goodrich and Woodridge 8th-grade graduates heard Reverend Edgar A. Cook of the First Congregational Church, Downers Grove, speak on three key words for the future: "hypocrisy, sincerity, and integrity". He suggested they should be genuine rather than hypocritical, and that they should be sincere and honest.

Thursday night, the Goodrich student choir sang "Where'er You Walk" and "Green Cathedral." Goodrich valedictorians Kate Forhan and Jim Ward accepted the challenge of high school in their addresses "We Accept the Gauntlet" and "Accepting the Gauntlet."

Those graduating were: Karen Ramquist, Thomas Morgan, Kate Forhan, Robert Wallace, Beth Slater, Rebecca Wardle, Virginia Seckler, Donald Boose, Joseph Pluth, James Anderson, George Kubis, Terence Mieling, James Ward, William Palmer, Gary Baldwin, Robert Johnson, Lavern Heintz and Kenneth Maas.

Friday night at Woodridge, 34 eighth-graders graduated at commencement services. Featured was the girls' chorus whose selections were also "Where'er You Walk" and "Green Cathedral." Class valedictorian Jack Vukov spoke on "The Immediate Future." Exercises were closed by the girls' chorus rendition of "Halls of Ivy."

Let Bids For New High School

Downers Grove's second high school is now in the bidding stage. Supt. Glenn Pickrel told District 99 board of education members at Monday night's meeting that the architect's office this week will be issuing plans and specifications to seven interested contractors.

Pickrel said that the bid opening has been scheduled for Mon., July 15, at 2 p. m. in the administrative offices at Lincoln school. Then, if the project comes in with a satisfactory price, the contract can be awarded at the board's monthly meeting that evening. And, hopefully, work might get underway the following day.

The school, which will be built on a 48-acre site at 63rd st. and Dunham rd. in the southern portion of the district, is being financed through funds from a $4,050,000 bond issue approved by district voters last November. It is scheduled for opening in Sept., 1964. The bond issue covers construction costs and equipment of the school.

Initially it will operate as a freshmen-sophomore unit with all juniors and seniors accommodated at the present school. Then, by spring of 1967, this type of operation (termed a "split-campus program") will be evaluated and the decision made to go either to two complete four-year schools or to continue the split-campus plan. Students have already completed questionnaires which will be part of an evaluation of this type of operation.

Board members agreed to meet again July 1 for a careful review of the building plans and specifications. And if there are any areas where changes are indicated, Pickrel observed that these can be issued to bidders as addenda items.

Educational specifications for the new school were developed by the DGHS faculty over a two-year period preceding submission of the bond issue. Cooperating with staff members in this study aimed at providing a functionally planned, smoothly operating unit were the system's administrative staff and Gustave Orth, partner in the firm of Fugard, Burt, Wilkinson & Orth, Chicago architectural firm which designed the new school.

Looking ahead to the coming term, the superintendent told members that plans were being completed for rental of three classrooms at the Gloria Dei church across from the present campus for the 1963-64 term. Board attorney Donald H. Wallingford has drafted a lease which has gone to the church trustees for approval and will then be submitted to the school board.

Initially the plan had been to use five classrooms at the church for the overflow, along with the two classrooms available in the demountable unit adjacent to the Main st. school entrance. Instead, two large study hall groups will be transferred to the basement cafeteria area and one study hall is being divided into two classrooms. Principal Clarence Johnson indicates this should take care of the record enrollment of approximately 2,800 boys and girls, a projection that is now slightly above last year's estimate.

Police News

No, it wasn't a rodeo coming to town on June 13. A complaint was received by the Woodridge police department that cows were running loose in the 2700 block on 75th st. The old cow hands, Officers White and Renna, "rode herd" until they were back in the field.

On June 12, a gold ring with a stone was turned in. The ring was found on the baseball diamond on June 7 and can be picked up at the police station by anyone who can identify it. A baseball mitt was also turned in on the same date.

Lance Vandenbroch, 7, of 7620 Woodridge dr. was injured on June 6 and was taken to the doctor's office with a severe cut on his left hand.

An inhalator call was received on June 16 when Mrs. Elizabeth Guldin discovered Mrs. Katherine Behrendt of Antioch lying unconscious at 7631 Woodridge dr. Mrs. Behrendt, housekeeper for Jack Hogan, had apparently suffered a stroke in the living room of the house and was ordered hospitalized in Edward hospital.

An automobile accident was reported on June 8 when a resident ran off the road and damaged a radar sign on 75th st. west of Westview ln. He was given a ticket for damaging village property.

Boys, aged 8 and 13, were picked up by the principal of the school on June 16 for throwing rocks at him and were turned over to their parents.

Miscellaneous complaints answered by the Woodridge police department include: a lost wallet, a broken windshield, wind damage to a model home on Forest Glen pkwy., an injured dog, 4 stray dog complaints and a complaint of violation of the noxious weed ordinance.

Tickets issued during the period include: 6 for speeding; 5 stop sign violations; 3 tickets for not having a vehicle license; one for damage to village property and one for not having a state license plate.

The police were called for an inhalator for a resident of Walnut, who was having difficulty breathing and was taken to St. Joseph hospital in Joliet.

On June 16 a resident of 75th st. reported that her mother fell down the stairs and suffered a possible broken leg.

On June 6 at 9:45 p. m. a complaint of a street fight on Catalpa ave. was reported, but there was no disturbance upon the arrival of police.

A resident of Crabtree ave. reported a possible prowler behind his home at 12:10 a. m. He stated that he heard a noise but was unable to observe anything. The next day it was discovered that a swing in his back yard had been damaged.

Fire Department News

The last two weeks have been safe ones in the village, according to Fire Chief Henry Wilgus. There were no fire calls and only one inhalator call. The fire department was on duty all day at the circus grounds June 13, but reported only a few minor accidents that required first aid. When not busy, the firemen joined in the spirit of the day by helping wash down the elephants.

Wilgus issued a warning to the youngsters turning in false alarms. Not only is it a dangerous pastime which might prove harmful, but if caught, there is a severe penalty which could include a jail sentence.

Books Donated To Library

The Woodridge library committee received a large selection of books left over from the AAUW book sale in Downers Grove June 15. This is the second year such a donation has been made by the AAUW.

Mrs. Barbara Lentz, chairman of the library committee, told the WNR that "some of the leftover books are not suitable for our purposes, but we always receive many worthwhile volumes to add to our growing collection." Mrs. Lentz said her committee is still eager to obtain secondhand books from local contributors.

The committee is also in need of a typewriter with elite type, preferably electric, for use in filling out index cards. Anyone interested in donating books or who knows of a good buy in typewriters may call Mrs. Lentz, W08-1724, evenings.

Magistrate's Court

Judge Walter Larson heard the following cases on June 17: stop sign violation - $5 fine - $5 cost; stop sign violation - suspended; stop sign violation - $5 fine - $5 cost - $5 suspended; speeding - $20 fine - $5 cost; speeding - suspended; speeding - $10 fine - $5 cost; speeding - $11 fine - $5 cost; no vehicle sticker - $5 fine - $5 cost; damage to village property - $5 fine - $5 cost; peddling door-to-door without a license - $25 fine - $5 cost.

Mr. Redman, his wife Celeste, and their baby daughter, Colette, moved to Woodridge from Chicago on March 1 of this year. They like Woodridge very much and are especially enthusiastic about the excellent golf and bowling facilities nearby.

Tattle Tales

by Nan Davis

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Clemans, 7633 Larchwood In., are proud to announce the birth June 12 of their newest daughter, CAROLYN PATRICE CLEMENS. Carolyn weighed in at 7 lbs. 3 oz. at Edward hospital, Naperville. The Clemens have three other daughters, Sue, Sally and Sandy and a son, David. Both Mr. and Mrs. Clemans are from Janesville, Wisc., where all the grandparents still reside. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gesteland are the maternal grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Clemans are the paternal grandparents.

Mrs. Clemans was the guest of honor recently at a surprise baby shower. A planned monthly kaffee klatch was turned into a surprise shower by the hostess, Mrs. Pat Slezak of Larchwood In., neighbors and friends from Lisle.

Woodridge 4-H'ers have been working on oil paintings which they plan to display at the DuPage county fair. Paintings on display will depict Japanese, underwater and mountain scenes.

DG Annexes High School Site

The second Downers Grove high school at Dunham rd. and 63rd st., scheduled for opening Sept., 1964, is now within the corporate limits of Downers Grove. The Downers Grove village council voted to annex the 262 acres which extend from 63rd st. to about 67th st., and west from Dunham rd. about a mile to Woodward ave.

The county board of school trustees, which holds title to two school sites (about 60 acres) in the area, requested the annexation. The other school site is that of the new grade school at Norfolk.

The remaining tract of approximately 200 acres was annexed on the petition of Mrs. Mary M. Carmody.

Baseball News

by Bob Manges, Jr.

This past week has been an eventful one for baseball in Woodridge. The Yanks were trounced by the Sox with a surprising score of 20-5. The Braves chalked one up as they won a protest game against the Cards, although they were outscored 26-17. The Cubs took a make-up game from the Braves, 4-3 and another from the Cards 8-5. The Yanks and the Braves were rained out on a make-up game June 19. Also on June 19, the Yanks whipped the Cards 12-2.

Woodridge now has a Colt league team made up of boys 15 to 17 years of age. Everything happened so quickly that they had tryouts, a practice and their first game all in the space of four days. So we now have four baseball leagues to support.

Sports Around The World

by Bob Manges, Jr.

LaCrosse, the national sport of Canada, was invented by the Indians long before the Pilgrims landed. Baggataway, as the Indians called it, was a rough and tumble game sometimes consisting of 500 players. The object of the game then was to run as far as you could with the ball before you were beaten down. The teams lost many players by being clubbed to death.

Now the game is not quite so brutal. Each team has ten players on a field measuring 110 yds. by 60-70 yds. Each player uses a stick, or "crosse" as it is called, to throw a 7-3/4 in. ball into the opponents' net. Gloves, similar to those worn by hockey players, and helmets are required. A game is 60 min. long, divided into four quarters of 15 min. each. The crosse consists of a handle and a net joined at the neck. The net is 7-12 in. wide and the stick is about 3-6 ft. in length.

District 68 Outlines Agreement With Winston-Muss

The results of negotiations between the board of education, district 68, and the Winston-Muss Corp. were outlined by President John Dahlberg at the board's adjourned meeting June 11. About 25 residents of Woodridge and the Goodrich school area were present at the meeting, which Dahlberg stressed was "open to the floor for comments and suggestions."

After an opening statement reminding residents that "the school board was elected to represent all the people of the district," Dahlberg presented the major points of a proposed agreement between the board and Winston-Muss. According to the agreement the school board would refrain from making any protest against the Winston-Muss re-zoning petition to be heard by the county zoning board of appeals June 13. Provided their re-zoning request was granted, Winston-Muss agreed to donate to the school district two 8-acre school sites, $75,000 in cash, and water and sewer connections to Goodrich school. A certified check for $37,500 was to be presented to the district prior to the re-zoning hearing and the remaining $37,500 was to be paid by Feb. 1, 1964. In the event that their zoning variation request was denied, Winston-Muss agreed to provide the district with $50,000 instead of $75,000.

Comments from the floor indicated that many of the Goodrich area residents, whose property would be directly affected by the new subdivision, felt that the school board should protest the Winston-Muss petition. Some members of the audience felt that $75,000, plus the other donations outlined in the agreement, was not a sufficient contribution.

Thomas Tousignant, superintendent of schools, reported that he had contacted the school superintendent in Palatine and had been told that Winston-Muss donated to the Palatine district only one school site, and no cash, for 1,300 children.

After a period of further discussion and questions from the floor, the board unanimously approved "in substance, subject to technical revisions" the proposed agreement with Winston-Muss.

At a special meeting June 8 the school board officially accepted the low bid of $14,126 from Contemporary Bldrs. for the remodeling of four rooms in the older section of Goodrich school.

To Protest County Re-Zoning

The village board at its meeting June 20 signed a formal protest prepared by Village Attorney James McClure and directed McClure to file it with the county clerk. The essence of the protest was similar to that which was filed with the county zoning board of appeals.

The protest requests the county board of supervisors to deny the request of Winston-Muss for re-zoning of their area from R-2 to R-3 and to deny special variations requested. Because President William Roberts was absent from the meeting, Trustee Edward Redmond was elected president pro tem to sign the protest. The filing of this protest will require that the county board of supervisors pass on this matter by a 3/4 majority rather than the usual simple majority.

In other actions, the board moved to direct President Roberts to return all unsigned resolutions and the check and voucher made out to the village attorney. The resolutions were all related to the recent dismissal of Douglas Comstock as village attorney and the hiring of James McClure to that position. In a letter to the board, Roberts said he could not sign the resolutions or the check as the actions taken concerning the village attorney were all illegal, and that he had filed a protest to this extent with the village clerk.

The board then moved to re-adopt the resolutions and to direct President Roberts to sign the check and voucher. Trustee Werch refused to vote on any of these motions because, he said, they were all out of order. The board also passed a motion directing the president to turn over to them the leases with Surety Development on the village hall and fire barn.

Because of the holiday, the regular meeting of the village board, scheduled for July 4, will be held on July 5.

Circus Comes To Town

by Shirley Manges

Where do you think everyone was June 13? Clowning around at the circus of course. About 1400 people relaxed under the big-top with popcorn, peanuts and crackerjack. The lion's share of the children were seen munching cotton candy and snow cones.

Before the main attraction, a trip around the midway revealed a wild animal exhibit, live jungle rats, a souvenir stand pony rides and "Snakes Alive," a reptile show.

The circus started off with a grand march around the hippodrome. There were elephants, pretty girls, dogs, horses, clowns, jugglers and a chimp. One of the horses looked a little suspicious. Come to think of it, I don't really believe it was a horse at all, but two clowns in disguise.

There were jugglers and balancing acts on unicycles, performing dogs and goats. One of the dogs climbed a 20 ft. ladder and jumped into a net below. Pretty girls in sparkling costumes swung high on a rope and ladder and rode at breathtaking speed standing on horseback.

There were a variety of other special and thrilling features, but it was the elephants who really stole the show. The expressions of wonderment and delight on the children's faces reminded me of my first trip to the circus many years ago. Then, as now, it was the majestic elephant which generated that special kind of excitement that makes a circus.

The police department's sponsorship of the circus provided welcome entertainment and also netted about $1300 which will be used to buy summer uniforms.

Appropriation Ordinance Presented

The appropriation ordinance for the fiscal year 1963-64 was presented at the village board meeting June 20. The floor was opened to the public for discussion of this subject upon the request of trustee Leon Werch.

The total appropriation of $102,235 included $19,000 for streets and alleys and $83,235 for the general fund. Anticipated expenditures on the part of the police department were $23,320, and $25,000 was set aside as a village hall building fund. Executive administration, including salaries of officials, amounted to $31,095. The contingency fund was set at $3,820.

To offset these expenditures an equal amount was listed as anticipated income. Primarily the money for the streets and alleys fund would come from motor fuel tax refunds ($8,000) and vehicle taxes ($3,3000). In the general fund the major sources of income were $30,000 in building permits and a tax levy of $12,995. Trustee Werch pointed out that at our present evaluation of 5.2 million this tax would amount to about $25.00 per $10,000 evaluation. He said this was just about the legal maximum.

Questions from the floor were raised as to whether or not the amount of money anticipated in building permits reflected income from the planned Winston-Muss development, as Joshua Muss had said at the county zoning board hearing that negotiations with Woodridge for annexation had ceased.

It was also asked if the board knew which of the expenditures in the budget were directly related to anticipated income from Winston-Muss and would have to be eliminated from the budget if there were no annexation. Albert Kaufman of Surety Development said that even if the Winston-Muss area were annexed the board should plan on little or no income from building permits because of the delay. He pointed out that it would be unlikely that any building would begin until next spring, near the end of the fiscal year.

Kaufman also said that Surety had only 66 more lots to sell before they would no longer be building in Woodridge, and that the board should expect no more than $6,000 or $7,000 in permits from Surety. After closing the floor to public discussion, the board voted to defer action on the ordinance to a special meeting at the school gym June 27, 8 p.m.

Reject Plat

some of the errors in his plat were due to the board's refusal to advise him whether or not certain changes in the subdivision control ordinance under consideration would be acted upon. He said he gambled that the changes would be made.

Trustee Wiggins said that under the idea of planned development, lot sizes are reduced so that more land could be set aside for public use and that Surety's plat was not in keeping with this concept. Kaufman replied that during the election campaign his contributions to the village had been spoken of very favorably in comparison to those planned by Winston-Muss. He said further that the plat of unit five was being withdrawn.

Later in the meeting Church submitted a preliminary plat of unit six which he said had been approved by the plan commission. He asked that the board act on it as soon as possible.

---ABOUT OUR CHURCHES---

Village Baptist

On June 15 the Sunday school sponsored a picnic at Argonne National Laboratory park. A good time was had by all. The pre-schoolers enjoyed a candy-pick-up relay and each was given a sand pail and shovel to accomplish his task. The school-age children demonstrated their physical fitness by racing backwards on all fours -- a male won, of course!

Ever catch a raw chicken egg? Well, the teen-agers are now well-versed on the subject. Then the women gave lessons to the men on how to hammer a spike into a 4x4. So, the men did a turn-about and showed the women that they knew how to feed a person a baby bottle. The babies were sleeping, so they proved their abilities by drinking the bottles themselves! Everyone was given free ice cream and the children received balloons.

The following Sunday, Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Haupers were present for both the morning and evening services. Mrs. Lorraine Haupers honored the congregation with a soprano solo, "Give Them One Chance" and her husband delivered the sermon. During the evening service, they showed slides of their work in South Viet Nam where they have been working for the past three years as missionaries under the Wycliffe Translators.

On June 23 Rev. Tom Cairns was the guest speaker at both services. He represents the Oak Hills Fellowship in Bemidji, Minnesota. There are two phases to their work. First of all, they serve as a home mission to the surrounding area. Several small churches have been started and are growing under the leadership of the teachers and students of the Bible school at Oak Hills. During the evening service all phases of the work were shown by means of colored slides.

Vacation Bible school began on June 17 with 58 in attendance. On Tuesday the number grew to 77 and has remained in that area. The children are learning many new things about the various persons in the Bible. Crafts are a highlight of the day and, of course, the refreshments are enjoyed daily. Bible memorization is encouraged as well as new songs and choruses. The closing exercises for the two-week period will be held during the time of the regular evening service at 7 p.m. on June 30. All of the children are encouraged to bring their parents to see and hear what has been done by them. The workbooks and crafts will be on display in the garage.

Since Pastor Savage will be leaving us at the end of the month, we would like to announce that we will be having either guest speakers or possible pastoral candidates beginning with the month of July. All services will continue as previously announced: Sunday school - 9:45 a.m.; worship service - 11 a.m. and evening service - 7 p.m.; plus Wed. prayer meeting - 7:30 p.m. During this Wed. period a study of the cults will be presented by Mr. Carl Sarlo. Those interested are welcome to attend. We will continue to meet at the church building, 7654 Woodview dr.

St. Scholastica

Wednesday, June 12, marked the final meeting for the year of the St. Scholastica men's club. At this time a check for $2,500 was presented to the parish building fund. The check represents the results of money-raising efforts of the club for the year. Election of officers was held and the following men were elected: president, Paul Quinn; vice-president, George Kujawa; secretary, Ken Brundage; treasurer, Bob Bell. Outgoing officers were commended for their fine work during the first year of the club. Membership is open to all men residing within the parish boundaries. The main activities of the club are spiritual, fund-raising, and social.

The St. Scholastica ball team now has four wins and no losses to their credit. Manager of the championship team is Frank DiDonna.

The first St. Scholastica summer day camp gives promise of being a grand success. Over 100 children have registered for the camp which is held on Tues. and Thurs. from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. There will be no camp on July 4.

The St. Scholastica youth club will be meeting regularly during the summer on the second and fourth Fridays of the month.
