It's county fair time from noon today until 9 p.m., Sun., July 28. The fair grounds at Manchester and Beverly in Wheaton, Ill., will be overflowing with exhibits, from flowers to chickens.

Most of the entries in the fair are from 4-H and Future Farmers of America members under the age of 21, and the Woodridge area can be proud of a strong representation from:

Nancy Dubs—flowers (annuals); Mary Linne Kraut—flowers (annuals); Amy Hill—(last year's class champion)—flowers (annuals), town garden; Frank Mabrey—electricity (1st); Carl Finkbeiner—electricity

The fair will include exhibits of interest to all members of the family plus dress revues, wild west shows, a parade of antique autos, etc.

Don Miller, Hobson rd., former president of the board of education of district 68, is the Fair manager.

Board Approves Plat For Unit 6

At the July 18 meeting the preliminary plat for unit 6 was approved by the village board. The area, approximately 80 acres, is across 75th st., to the north and west,

Trustee Trial Decision Delayed

The decision on the suit brought by William Woody, Jr. against the five Woodridge trustees originally set for July 17, has been deferred.

According to James W. McClure, attorney for the defense, the States Attorney, counsel for the prosecution, has requested permission to submit written evidence to Justice of the Peace John Cockrell, in whose court the case was tried July 3. Cockrell offered McClure the same opportunity on behalf of his clients and set a later date for the decision in order to review the evidence.

Reveals Part In "The Longest Day"

After 19 years, Frank Schneider, 2920 Everglade ave., and John Steele of the 82nd Airborne, 505 Co. D, met again. Annually, the 82nd holds a convention; this year July 4-7, men of the 82nd Airborne from all over the US met in Detroit. Frank and Louise Schneider went this year and enjoyed talking over old times with the men who were the live participants of "The Longest Day", popular film which is currently drawing a large box office. Schneider's 505 Co. D was the only outfit that made a good drop into St. Merrie Etlice. His was the company featured in the movie and his friend John Steele, played by Red Buttons in the film, was the paratrooper who landed on the church steeple.

On that famous jump, Frank Schneider landed in an apple tree. Turn to page 3 beginning at the northwest corner of Janes rd. and 75th st. This corner is zoned for business.

The village engineer gave a report on their examination of the plat on drainage only and that the way the drainage was laid out was acceptable and followed the natural drainage course. Al Kaufman, president of Surety Development Corp., was asked to come in to discuss the plat. He was asked by one of the trustees if there would be a frontage road on the north side of 75th st., as there is on the south side. Kaufman said that there will be.

Other Board News

The July 18 village board meeting with 20 in attendance was held at the village hall. Attending were eight officials, the village engineer, one member of the plan commission, three members of the press and seven citizens. About ten were not able to gain admittance because of the fire regulations limiting attendance to 20. A public address system was set up for those outside.

McClure Removed for 3rd Time

One of the first actions at the meeting was the removal of the attorney, James E. McClure, at Village President William Roberts' direction. The position of the objecting trustees is that the village has no ordinance creating the office of village attorney and that the trustees are not appointing a village attorney but hiring legal counsel. Trustee Ed Redmond said that Roberts should have vetoed the action but did not. He said the action on the part

Census Clerk Needed

Village Clerk Faye Hoffman announced that the village needs a census clerk. Anyone interested in being a deputy clerk in charge of the census should call Mrs. Hoffman.

The voters of school district 68 narrowly approved a 21¢ educational fund tax rate increase Saturday. The final count was 113 for to 105 against for a total of 219 ballots cast. Again, the Woodridge vote carried the referendum for the district.

The count in the Woodridge precinct was 85 to 36 in favor of the increase; Goodrich area residents voted 69 to 28 against it.

Late Saturday afternoon, when only 37 voters had cast their ballots at Woodridge school, members of the Woodridge Womens Club began calling voters for the second time that day to remind them of election hours. Eighty-two residents attended the polls in the last two hours of voting.

$400,000 Below Estimate

Award H.S. Contract

A $2,988,988 bid for construction of Downers Grove's second high school brought tentative award of the contract Monday night to M. A. Lombard & Son Co., Chicago, lowest of seven bidders.

School Supt. Glen Pickrel and board members were obviously pleased with results of the bidding. Pickrel estimated that the winning bid gives a square foot cost of $12.18 based on 245,281 square feet in the building. Architect Gust Orth, Hinsdale, partner in the firm of Fugard, Burt, Wilkinson & Orth, also expressed delight at the prices, pointing out that the low bid came in more than $400,000 below his estimate.

Construction of the 1,700 pupil school on the 48-acre site at 63rd and Dunham is expected to start within the next month. Orth, who conferred with Lombard immediately following the bid opening, reported that he had given his assurance that the school should be ready as scheduled by September, 1964, "barring any unforeseen event." Groundbreaking will probably be scheduled in early August.

Money to finance the construction and equipment of the new high school comes from a $4,050,000 bond issue authorized by district voters last November. The structure is planned so that the main entrance and academic wing will front on Norfolk st., which will be extended west from Dunham rd.

Comstock Sues For Fee Payment

Douglas F. Comstock, attorney, Downers Grove, has filed suit against the village of Woodridge for professional services rendered and costs advanced by him in his capacity as village attorney at the direction of the president and board of trustees.

Payment is asked for services rendered in annexation negotiations and conferences, for prosecution of village cases and for four months' retainer fees through July.

Since March 1, he has received $826.67 on a total balance of $2032.01. His last payment was received June 24. This leaves a balance due of $1205.34. Comstock is also asking for costs and fees incurred by the suit.

Any Port in a Storm

This abandoned car found on 75th pl. was just one of many in the same boat. According to Wayne Bryant, superintendent of the Woodridge Sewer and Water Co., 2.9 inches of rain fell in one hour in Woodridge early Friday evening.

Although the heaviest damage was felt in the northern suburbs - with tornadic winds of 60 m.p.h., uprooted trees and power failures - Woodridge got its fair share. Crabtree Creek filled to the brim and overflowed on Westview ln. Many homes reported flooded basements and backed-up sewers, and yards were converted into lakes.

The people of Woodridge need open meetings - not open letters.

The recent "open letter" distributed to the people by the five new village trustees is a poor substitute for being able to speak at or to attend the village meetings. At the last village meeting the floor was again closed to the public; and since it was held within the limited confines of the village hall, some citizens were again refused admittance.

The new trustees have never given the people an adequate explanation for closing the floor at village meetings. In a release issued by them shortly after they took office entitled, "A Call to Reason and Patience," their only explanation for closing the floor was a statement that said, "The floor, as is the general practice with experienced and established villages, will not be open to the public during the business meeting." The WNR contacted 22 "experienced and established villages" in DuPage county and found that 17 of them have open meetings, three have closed meetings and two have an open forum before a closed business meeting. Closed meetings can hardly be considered the "general practice" in this area.

We feel the real reason these trustees have decided to close the floor is because they fear undue harassment from their opponents at the meeting. The actions by many at the new trustees' first meeting after the election were a disgrace, and the meeting itself was so bad as to embarrass the entire community. At some of the subsequent meetings the floor has been opened for specified periods during which the public contributed to the discussion in an orderly fashion. Since the board is now more experienced and better able to handle any disturbances, we suggest they open the meetings and move to the school when the size of the crowd warrants it. This will allow their opponents to express their complaints at the meeting instead of in a court of law.

In their recent open letter to the people these trustees complained they were being hindered by constant harassment from their opponents. We agree that much of the action taken against them has been extreme and has also embarrassed the community. However, it might be well to point out here that much of the "harassment" was precipitated by actions of the trustees, particularly those actions limiting the privileges of the people.

During the recent election campaign these trustees ran on a platform which contained good proposals for the betterment of the village. To implement these proposals, they will need the backing of the majority of the people.

The election is over and the citizens have a right to expect all the public officials to seriously work together for the general welfare despite political affiliations or prejudices. We think it is self-evident that Woodridge will not reach its full potential until we have this type of mature leadership.

TO THE EDITOR

Watchful Parent!

The WNR received a letter to the editor signed "a watchful parent." It is not being printed in full as it is the policy of the paper not to print letters that do not have a legal signature. However, the legal signature can be withheld on request.

There is a good point made in the letter and that is: "Everyone who drives should make it a good habit to look behind his car before starting it..." The letter refers to the youngster and his smashed tricycle pictured in the July 11 issue of the WNR.

Apparently we did not make it entirely clear that the circumstances of the situation indicate a clear case of vandalism. The police officer involved has also had eggs thrown at his home.

Dear Editor:

The following letter is directed to the five new trustees in answer to their recent "Open Letter to the People."

Your chief complaint was one of being "harassed by certain people and small groups in the village". Did you, for one minute, think that the people of this village were going to sit back and do nothing when they saw you taking their rights away from them?

You first began by closing the floor to open discussion at village meetings. Your next step was to turn away citizens from village meetings and refuse to hold these meetings at a place that would accommodate all the people. It was not until after Mr. Woody filed a suit against you, that you decided to move your meetings to larger quarters.

You lost for the village a chance to double in size. You refused to negotiate reasonably with Winston-Muss. Any business has trouble coming to agreement on a contract; and running a village is a business. If you had honestly tried for a workable arrangement, we would have had Winston Hills as a part of Woodridge. In losing Winston Hills for this village, you succeeded in losing many thousands of dollars in revenue beneficial to the growth of the now existing village. Oh, what a village Woodridge could have been!

Now you have succeeded in alienating Mr. Kaufman to the point that he has filed suit for disannexation. What are we to do now? Sit here in the middle of nowhere as a ghost town? We now have no builder - no way of expanding!

I beg of you five new trustees - throw in that crying towel, stand up like men, think as individuals and undo the damage you have done to this village before its too late. And the people of this village, do all the harassing necessary to force these men to accomplish this and to make Woodridge once again a progressive village.

Sincerely,

Grace M. Kennell

Dear Editor:

At the end of each year all newspapers greet the new year with pictures of a newborn infant representing the new year. The various news items concerning Woodridge and the various arguments and upheavels relative to establishing government show an infant with a lusty howl. Out of this will come order. The sooner the better.

There has to be law and order. In the good (?) old days when there was little, conditions were intolerable. Even the worst crook uses the law for protection when in a jam. Otherwise, he resents it. But a good and efficiently run government can do wonders....

Woodridge is bound to grow. How it will grow will depend a lot on the men at the helm. Law and order are necessary. Planning, to make it and keep it as a desirable, place to live, is important. If everybody pulls together, there can be good government at moderate cost.

Water Pump Building Removed

The building which was located at the corner of Woodridge dr. and Crabtree ave. next to the fire barn has been removed a long with the equipment it housed.

According to Wayne Bryant of the Woodridge Sewer and Water Co., the site of the building was originally a storm well. At the inception of the development of Woodridge a submersible pump was installed and supplied water for the first Woodridge residents. The pump has been out of operation for three years.

Bryant says that the water pipe and gravel which still remain at the site will be removed after the water has been disconnected. Black dirt will be spread and the area will be grassed.

Fireman Recovers Pilot's Body

Woodridge Fireman Blaine Corriveau was one of two persons to recover the body of a pilot whose burning plane crashed into Spirit lake, Wisc., July 1. Corriveau was riding in a boat on Medicine lake, a few hundred yards away, when the pilot was forced to bail out of his single engine plane at a level too low for his parachute to open.

Corriveau said it was evident the pilot was dead when they reached the body which was floating face down in the water, bouyed up partly by the partially open parachute and the seat pack.

The pilot had been performing acrobatic stunts in the air over Medicine lake when his plane apparently caught fire.

Lemonade Anyone?

Last week Deerfield ave., was the scene of a booming new business enterprise. And the use put to the day's profits deserves commendation.

Three little girls did not know just what to do. It was a hot day and after some lengthy discussion, they decided that there was just one project that interested them-- to have a lemonade stand. They asked their mothers if they would approve the project, and getting permission (and the necessary backing!), they went into business.

But these girls, Janet Barkauski, age 8, Kathy Runnfeldt, age 9, and Masha Werch, age 10, did not just sit and let business come to them. Go-getters in the true American tradition, they canvassed the neighborhood, door-to-door, selling their lemonade, and when the lemonade was gone, they sold Kool-ade. When the neighbors had quenched their thirsts, they thought of the hot, dusty workmen building homes and approached them for more sales. They certainly knew their market.

Their final profits for the day added up to $1.58 and, at 5¢ a glass, that's a lot of business (the extra 3¢ is a puzzle).

What did they do with the earnings? Their customers will be pleased to know that, on their own, these three girls decided to give their profits to the Cancer Fund. Needless to say, their backers heartily approved.

Mrs. Schneider said that the movie is relatively close to the truth, except that Steele did not hang from the steeple for eight hours, but for two and one half hours, when it was discovered by the Germans that he was not dead. She says that actually, he is not deaf from the steeple bells as depicted in the movie. He was captured, and imprisoned, but jumped through an open prison window after three days and rejoined his outfit.

Mrs. Schnieder was the only German girl at the convention and they asked her to sing "Lili Marlene" again. (It seems that they remembered her singing it before at a convention).

Frank and Louise Schneider met in Germany after the war when he was serving a second term in the army. She has been a US citizen for 6 yrs.

On July 11 Mike Towner, Cubs pitcher, hurled a no-hitter against the Cards. The Cubs, needless to say, won, 14-1.

The double-header on July 4 was also a double victory for the Johnson family. In the first game Mike Johnson was the winning pitcher as the Braves beat the Cubs 8-6. In the second game Chester Johnson fanned 17 men to lead the Sox to an 8-4 win over the Yanks. Chester struck out 12 players in a row after giving up 4 runs and one hit in the first inning.

In other games the Cubs beat the Sox 1-0, and the Yanks 7-5. The Cards beat the Sox 23-9, but lost to the Yanks 8-5. The Braves beat the Sox 10-7 and were trounced by the Cards 18-10. The Yanks also beat the Braves 8-6.

Chief Joel Kagann attended the Illinois chiefs of police convention in Zion, Ill. on July 21-22 and, as secretary of the DuPage County Chiefs association, presented a resolution calling for the legislature to enact more specific legislation on the use of red and other colored warning lights on emergency vehicles. One of the purposes of the convention was to discuss legislation passed in the last session of the legislature.

Another improvement in service to the village is the new telephone hook-up between the Woodridge police and fire departments. The police will now receive and respond to calls at the same instant the calls go through to the fire department.

On July 10, police again assisted the fire department at a brush fire on Westview Ln. They helped keep the fire under control until additional help could arrive.

District 68 Invests Monies

At the regular July 8 board meeting of district #68 the board of education authorized treasurer Carl Finkbeiner to invest $49,500 in Savings & Loans institutions (long term investments) at an interest rate of 4-1/4%, and $66,075 in short term treasury notes at the going rate of about 3%. $67,000 of the money represents (A) $37,500 from the Winston-Muss agreement to be used for building purposes, and (B) $30,000 in tax receipts. Return on these investments will mean an approximate additional $2,000 income in the next 6 months. These monies are earmarked for expenditure for this fiscal year.

Carl Finkbeiner gave a report on the 4-H Federation. Mary Linne Kraut gave a talk on flowers, and Shifra Werch gave a talk on handicraft. We decided that we would buy new flags.

On July 10 Carl Finkbeiner and Willard Bredfield, Jr., went to the county to participate in the public speaking and demonstration contest. Carl received a "B" ribbon for his talk on veterinarians. He was chosen as an alternate to go down state.

Willard also received a "B" ribbon for his demonstration on a diode checker. He was chosen as an alternate to go down state for the boys in demonstration.

The July 9 meeting was held at Frank Mabrey's home. We played softball from 6:30 - 7:30. Last-minute details on entry blanks were taken care of. Everybody was told that we would meet at the school Aug. 3 at 10 a. m. and would hike out to the Weills' for our picnic.

of the majority of the trustees has passed twice and has become law. Redmond then moved to seat McClure. Roberts declared the action out of order. The discussion that followed centered on the Franklin Park situation and Illinois state legislature house bill 699. Franklin Park has a situation in which the trustees are battling the village president for control, particularly regarding the appointment of the village attorney.

House bill 699 had a rider on it which would have made it legally possible for four trustees to make an appointment. This bill was tabled. Roberts points to this rider as evidence that the state statutes clearly provide the president with power of appointment with concurrence of the board.

The discussion ended with the decision to let the court settle it. The suit brought by Ralph Kennell asks that the court settle this question. The firms of Carl H. Kuhn and that of Thomas Matthews and Bryon Matthews have been retained to defend the village by action of the majority of the board. Trustee Leon Werch said he did not think it proper, that the complaints were against the individuals and not against the board. Werch said that he had retained his own counsel.

Also discussed was changing the regular meeting place for village board meetings. President Roberts said that he had looked into the possibility of the school for the regular meeting place. Trustee David Callahan said they would still be talking about temporary facilities. The decision was to wait for Judge Cockrell's decision on the complaint filed by William Woody. This complaint charged that the trustees, Redmond, Kinser, Wiggins, Callahan and Hansen had held a meeting at which action was taken which was not open to the public. The decision on this has been postponed.

Boy Scouts

On the evening of June 28, Boy Scout Troop 109 and their fathers went on an overnight camp-out at Camp Thunderbird. The following day, mothers and the rest of the family visited the camp site and brought along a picnic lunch. The parents observed first-hand the capabilities of their sons on camping trips. The boys showed their parents how to make corn bread over an open camp fire.

Two patrols, the Hawks and the Ravens, won blue ribbons when they tied for first place for the best over-all patrol on the camp site. Several races were held and prizes won, but the main event of the day (after eats) was a softball game between the scouts and their parents. Much to their delight, the Scouts won but a few boys were surprised at the prowess of their parents.

On July 8, eight scouts will attend camp for a week at Northwoods, Wisc.

The troop is always happy to welcome new boys. Anyone interested in scouting may call Scoutmaster Joe Shroka, WO-9-4656.
