Happy Birthday To Us

Three years ago on November 17, 1960 the WNR published its first paper. The birth announcements of Bruce Jon Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Watson, and Pamela Trondsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Trondsen, appeared in that edition. Today Bruce and Pam can walk on two sturdy legs, talk intelligently, and brush their own teeth. Like Bruce and Pam, the WNR has also grown and is now published on a weekly basis, owns its own headline machine and has a newspaper office.

Although children and newspapers have many disappointments, doubts and backslides along the way, each year brings them closer to maturity. It will be tough to match these youngsters' rapid growth, but we'll try.

District 68 Referendum Set For Dec. 14

The board of education of district 68 took action Nov. Il instructing school attorney Alan Hultman, to draw up a resolution calling for a referendum on Dec. 14, 1963 to put before the voters a $166,000 bond issue in order to finance additions to both Good-rich and Woodridge schools.

Library Plans January Opening

Library committee secretary, Mrs. Richard Miller, has announced that present plans are to open the library between Jan. 1 and Jan. 15, 1964. The books are to be housed in the southeast room of the village hall, 2909 Forest Glen pkwy. Library hours will be set at a later date. The committee is asking for volunteers to serve as librarians. Interested persons may contact Mrs. Richard Miller, WO 8-1489, Mrs. Al Zettler, WO 8-0241, or Mrs. Ronald Ruble, WO 9-2926.

According to Mrs. Miller, about 1,260 books are now in the library room and the committee is working constantly to get them catalogued for the January opening. The shelves, which are being built by Jerry Szczepaniak, are near completion. When they are in place, the books can then be placed on the shelves.

WAA To Sponsor Ice Rink Again

Virgil McPherson, president of the Woodridge Athletic Association, states that plans for winter activities for Woodridge definitely include the continuance of providing the ice rink in the athletic field on the corner of Forest Glen pkwy. and Woodridge dr.

He added that the WAA hopes to again sponsor basketball for the young people depending on the availability of playing space.

The board has been reviewing architects plans with Wight & Associates,
Downers Grove, designers of the present
Woodridge school and the Goodrich addition, in an attempt to resolve the space problems that will be created by Woodridge's continuing growth, a result of Surety Builders' construction and the anticipated new Winston Hills area.

The $166,000 will be needed for the construction on the 2 schools in addition to the $75,000 donated by Winston Muss.

Current plans are to add classrooms, a library, speech and health room to Woodridge school and additional classrooms, library and the rest of the all purpose room at Goodrich. The increased enrollment will also necessitate additional toilet facilities at both schools.

At Special Board Meeting

Fee Payments Deferred Again

At the reconvened meeting of the village board Nov. 13, it was expected that the establishment of the post of village attorney, the appointment of Mr. James McClure to this position, and payment of McClure's fees by the village were expected to occur. Appointments were also to be made to the village planning commission.

None of the foregoing took place.

Mayor Roberts said as the meeting opened that since he had received no proposals in regard to payments of the attorneys involved in the Kennel suit, he could not proceed with any of the other business at hand, including the payment of McClure for past services to the board. Mayor Roberts asserted that all these matters were, in his understanding, to be considered as a "package deal."

As the meeting was opened to the floor, McClure pointed out that Judge Rathje had, in his opinion, made it clear that all these matters except payment to the other attorneys were to be resolved at this meeting.

Mayor Roberts stood firm on the grounds that he and the board could not decide whether or not the fees were equitable unless all were presented together.

Various members of the board expressed the possibility of resolving all the other business at hand except the payment to McClure. Mayor Roberts still declined to act. The board then moved

An Old Fashioned Thanksgiving

The age old adage "pictures speak louder than words" prompted the WNR to choose this drawing by Helga Seyling to wish everyone an old-fashioned Thanksgiving. Helga is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Seyling, 7756 Woodridge Drive and is a seventh grade student at Woodridge school.

It is hoped that occasionally other examples of our youngsters' artistic talents may be published in the WNR. The picture, originally created in color, was reproduced in black and white by the WNR.

Police News

Condolences to Patrolman James Novello whose mother, Mrs. Pauline Novello of Chicago, passed away on Nov.

Chief Joel A. Kagann was reelected for a second term as secretary of the DuPage County Chiefs of Police Association by a unanimous vote at a meeting held in Addison, Ill. on Nov. 13.

The seminar held Nov. 12 in Oak Brook on police radio operating procedure was one of the largest schools held, with 94 police officers and radio operators attending, said Chief Joel Kagann. One of the interesting highlights of the school, which was sponsored by the DuPage County Chiefs of Police Association, was a speech by Walter Koenig from the point to point radio desk at the Chicago Police Department. He spoke on services available from Chicago and explained how Woodridge can help Chicago and Chicago can help Woodridge.

Carol Sabin, 7818 Deerfield was taken to Resurrection hospital by the police department on the 13th on a confinement case.

Nov. 12, a stolen ladder was reported. A complaint was also received regarding a stray dog.

A fire call was answered on the 11th and a malicious mischief complaint regarding damage from b-b guns to 3 vehicles owned by the DeGraff-Woldman Company.

Obscene phone calls were reported on three occasions during the period.

A child injured by broken glass was taken to Edward hospital on Nov. 9; a dog bite was reported on that date in addition to a stray dog; a malicious mischief complaint regarding boys tearing down the Woodridge sign on the ballfield was received; the Surety watchman reporting more broken windows on houses under Property damage was reported on the 8th when an automobile struck a fire hydrant at Woodridge dr. and 75th st.

Another auto accident resulting in property damage was reported on the 4th.

Let's Talk Turkey

One week from today that huge roasted bird, the turkey, will again claim the honored place on our tables when we celebrate the annual festival of Thanksgiving. Since 1621, the turkey has been a permanent part of our Thanksgiving, a tradition so rich in memories and in meaning for every American.

In November of that year the little colony of Plymouth, which was the first permanent English settlement in America, held its first Thanksgiving to celebrate the gathering of a rich harvest, a great store of wild turkeys, and the arrival of the ship, Fortune, with provisions. After a year of much illness and many deaths because of the shortage of food and medicines, the Pilgrims had much to be thankful for. Turkey, goose, mince pie and nuts were a part of that first feast. The Indians were invited to join in the celebration and they brought venison.

Over the years the custom spread throughout the country. The exact date of the "First Thanksgiving" is unknown. It came some time between Nov. 11, the day the Fortune arrived, and Dec. 4, when letters were written about it. Each year a day was set aside to celebrate the "First Thanksgiving" and in the year 1864 President Lincoln issued the first Presidential Proclamation appointing Thanksgiving as a holiday held on the last Thursday of November. By act of congress in 1941, it was changed to the fourth Thursday.

Pause a moment this Thanksgiving and think about the Pilgrims and their hardships and all the people who are, perhaps, not as lucky as you. Then count your blessings and be thankful.

A photograph originally appearing in the June 27 issue of the Woodridge News Review has won a first-prize trophy and $50 savings bond for Joe Wollney, WNR staff photographer.

Joe entered the photo (reprinted above) in a contest sponsored by the Harvest magazine, house organ of the Campbell Soup Co., and won top honors in the animate division, black and white. The photo was taken for the newspaper at the Police Association circus last June. Behind the cotton candy are David and Diane Sullivan, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, 7635 Catalpa ave.

Joe will celebrate his one-year anniversary as a WNR photographer in December, but he's been a camera bug since he was 10 years old. His grandfather taught Joe's brother how to take and develop his own pictures while Joe kibitzed, picking up essentials for what was to be a lifetime hobby.

The genius is the man who shoots at something no one else sees and hits it.

Why be difficult when it's only a little more trouble to be impossible.

During his high school days Joe worked for the school paper, getting excused from class whenever he had a photo assignment. He was absent so regularly from one class that the dean warned him he would have to choose between newspaper photography and a high school diploma. Needless to say, he chose the latter.

Joe, an employee of Pepperidge Farm, subsidiary of Campbell Soup Co., lives at 7672 Willow ave. with his wife, Janet, a secretary for the S. W. Anderson Co.

Many of their old friends on Westview In. will be happy to know that Mr. and Mrs. Tony Metzler are back in the village. At present they are staying with Pat and Wally Akers of 3029 Crabtree. Pat informs us that the children adore grandma and grandpa and are graciously allowing themselves to be spoiled. Happy birthday today to Pat Akers.

The opening nite of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" at the Schubert Theatre was graced by the presence of Joseph and Pat Bertrand of 7667 Willow together with their neighbors, the John Aubeles. The male lead, "Finch", was played by the gentleman of "Gildersleeve" fame and the cast received three curtain calls for an ovation. The foursome dined at the Italian Village and enjoyed themselves immensely.

Currently visiting the Robert Tuckers of 2940 Forest Glen are Laverne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mullins of Huron, Tennessee.

What are we harried housewives going to do about one in our midst who visited last week with her mother, Mrs. Singer of Albany Park, and then informs us that not only does she have time to visit, but she has all her Christmas shopping completed already. We are speaking of Eleanor Wankowski of 7618 Deerfield who will celebrate her birthday on Dec. 12 and will certainly have time to enjoy the holiday by getting such an early start. We are all jealous, Eleanor.

Laurence and Joyce Schreck of 3012 Jonquil celebrated the baptism of their little girl named Sandra Lee on Nov. 17. Mr. and Mrs. DeLuca served as proxy Godparents since the actual Godparents reside out of the state.

How is this for a nice Christmas present? Loretta Runnseldt of 7622 Deerfield is infanticipating Dec. 25. Which name are you looking forward to, Loretta ---Noel or Carol?

Get well wishes to Mrs. Ernest Robertson, 2227 Crabtree, who is resting at home with double pneumonia.

Let's welcome the latest addition to the family of our Lincoln Bakery delivery man. Mr. and Mrs. William Toms are new parents of a 7 lb. 4 oz. baby girl, born Nov. 13 at St. Joseph's hospital, and chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, at the Nov. 11 regular meeting. Olsen's resignation is to be effective Dec. 1.

Olsen, who has been a field sales engineer for Cutler Hammer, Inc., has been transferred to the New York office as district manager. He was first elected to the district 68 school board in 1960 and again last spring to serve a second three year term.

The vacancy created will be filled by appointment until the April, 1964, election, at which time the electorate will fill the unexpired two year term.

Department

The Woodridge fire department answered a fire call to the Vial farm. Sheds were damaged and the house roof was endangered by sparks. Fireman Joe Sullivan suffered a back injury while fighting the fire and is in Edward hospital where he is undergoing x-ray examinations and tests.

On Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m., the firemen will attend a foam demonstration at the Lisle fire house. Chief Wilgus stated that foam is used to extinguish gas fires.

The department revealed that the many fire alarms recently have been for testing purposes.

Joliet. The Toms have two other children, a girl, Vivian, and a boy, Jeffrey.

Welcome to new neighbors: Ernest and Joan Lackey, Harold and Donna Hunt, Maurice and MaryAnne Holm, John and Madonna Goodsell, Donald and Geraldine Klein, Daniel and Dorothy Zid, and William and Mary Kidd.

Bette and Bill Smale, 7819 Deerfield welcomed a son to their family on Nov. 1. Gregg William was born at Community Memorial General hospital in LaGrange and weighed 5 lbs. 15-1/2 oz. Ronnie, 9 and Laura 3 welcomed their new brother on his arrival home. Mr. and Mr. Harry Smale (Bill's folks) from Florida, were on hand to take care of the family when Bette was at the hospital. Bette is a former WNR typist whom we hope to see active on the staff again when things settle down.

Linda Lee Goluch, 7677 Sprucewood, celebrated her 12th birthday with a Pizza party with the help of the girls from her class in school. Linda Lee's birthday is really on the 11th, but she had her party on the 10th.

At the same time 2 year old Linda Lee Raymond, 2639 Crabtree, celebrated her birthday with a party for relatives and friends. Her birthday also happens to fall on the 11th.

For busy Thanksgiving cooks trying to cope with a whole houseful of hungry relatives, here's a tip from Ellie Murphy on doing it the easy way: After stuffing and sewing up the turkey, brush the breast with melted butter and cover tightly with aluminum foil. Roast in a 4500 oven for about 15 min. per lb. (see time chart on package of foil) or until meat thermometer reaches 190°. Then remove the foil for the last half hour of cooking time in order to brown the meat. This method cuts roasting time almost in half and guarantees a wonderfully moist and flavorful turkey.

A mouth-watering finale to Thanksgiving dinner and a welcome change from the traditional pumpkin pie is Ginger Swierbinski's pumpkin cake. Beginning cooks please note: Ginger calls this her "no-flop cake -- almost impossible to ruin!"

PUMPKIN CAKE

- 1 1/2 c. salad oil
- 2 c. sugar
- 4 eggs
- 2 c. pumpkin 3 c. flour
- 2 t. baking soda
- 2 t. baking powder
- 1 t. salt
- 3 t. pumpkin pie spice

Mix first four ingredients together. Sift remaining ingredients and gradually add to previous mixture and mix well. Bake in greased angel food cake pan 1 hour at  $350^{\rm O}$ . Raisins and nuts may be added.\*

To top off the cake Ginger recommends powdered sugar or a simple sour cream frosting.

And for something to thrill the kids and conjure up nostalgic visions of the good old days for their parents, here's a real holiday treat from Nancy O'Connell who borrowed the recipe from her mother:

ROAST CHESTNUTS

Slit nuts well, place in shallow pan and mix with oil (1 T. per cup of nuts). Bake at 450° for 20 minutes. When cool enough to handle, remove shalls to handle, remove shells and skins with a sharp knife.

that Judge Rathje be contacted by phone during a recess to clarify his intentions in the matter.

After contacting the judge, Roberts related that Judge Rathje would hand down a final decree on the suit before the court the week of Nov. 18, and that he would confer with the judge at the beginning of that week.

McClure, in questioning the Mayor in regard to the just completed phone call, established that the judge had stated it was his wish that the board immediately settle all matters pertaining to McClure that night.

Roberts agreed that he was not acting according to the judge's recommendations in regard to payment of McClure. He stated that, in his opinion, Judge Rathje had changed his stand on the matter as he, Roberts, had understood it.

Roberts said that the meeting to be held with the judge early in the week would be in chambers with the members of the board if they wished to attend, but not open to the public.

ARCHITECT FOR COMMUNITY CENTER

An architect for the proposed community center will be selected by the board at the next regular meeting. The architect will then submit drawings to the board for their approval. These drawings and plans will ultimately be presented to the villagers for a final vote.

OTHER BOARD ACTION

In other action the board accepted and approved a recommendation from the special studies committee in regard to street lighting in the yet to be developed areas of Woodridge.

The recommendation stated that the lights would be placed at all intersections and at 500 foot intervals if the length of the street requires it. The lights suggested have a concrete base and a hinged metal post to allow for lower maintenance

U.S.S. Never Sail Doesn't

If you're invited aboard the "USS Never Sail", you'll never leave the Village, but you'll experience a bit of the South Seas.

After almost 5 years in the Navy and sea duty on the Carribean, George Vanik, 2751 Forest Glen pkwy., decided there would be no more salt water for him. However, when he and his wife started working on a recreation room in their home, Vanik called on his sea duty for ideas.

The bow of a boat was reproduced to be used for a bar and christened the "USS Never Sail"; fish netting was strung across the ceiling and Vanik's wife, Pat, began the job of painting

The best place to begin is at the beginning, so our first Double Take will spotlight the November 17, 1960, edition of the WNR. The banner headline read, "Another First for Woodridge" which meant Woodridge's first newspaper. But what happened to this "first"?

The walls are now covered with paintings of a waterfall scene, hula dancers, a native fisherman and an erupting volcano. Some of the figures were cut from plywood and fastened to the walls giving a third dimensional effect which is enhanced by lighting which constantly changes and gives a feeling of movement to the scenes.

position as one of the charter members of our advertisers, the WNR would like to have you meet your neighbor and friend, J. T. Hankinson, the man.

"JT's" family started the Hankinson Lumber and Supply Company back in 1929. It was the first building material firm to be established on Ogden ave. between Cicero and Aurora.

Always a civic-minded individual Mr. Hankinson was on the first board of trustees when the town of Lisle became incorporated seven years ago. He was also the first police chief in Lisle before the advent of radio cars.

He was presented with an honorary plaque after being twice president of the Lions International. At present "JT" is very active as a member of the Lisle township board and also in his position as town auditor.

As a former disc-jockey with station WMRO in Aurora, "JT" has always been vitally interested in the radio communications field. Hankinson Electronics, a division of Hankinson Lumber Company, carries the best and largest supply of Citizen Band radio equipment. The firm is the only distributor for General Radio+ telephone and International Crystal Executive for three surrounding counties. This new and exciting facet of the business all stems from "JT's" facination with his previous hobby of radio.

IT'S ELEMENTARY WOODRIDGE SCHOOL

by Mary Jane Clark

Hi! We've got a lot of things going here at Woodridge, among them a Science Club, organized by the junior high level. We plan to work on group projects, perhaps conducting some experiments, and taking nature walks. We meet Tuesdays, about three times a month. Our officers are Shifra Werch, vice-president, Connie Smith, president; and Irene Petran, secretary.

Mrs. Moravec's second grade is making an animal hibernation mural. They have made clay animals and paper homes in the background.

Mrs. Avery's first grade is making a cut-out, airview mural on the Pilgrim's famous feast.

Mrs. Nesbitt's third grade is making an Indian exhibit, complete with tepees, canoes, etc. Also, they are working on decoding Indian messages.

Miss Woodin's fourth grade has made little globes out of rubber balls, hollowed out and painted blue, with a "map" pasted on. They're also working on "stained glass" windows for Christmas, made from construction and colored cellophane paper.

POTS IN THE BELFRY

I received a call the other night from John Narducci, the well-known author of "32 songs" who lives on Jonquil ln. John was trying to corral a group to get together for an evening of ping-pong. This gives every indication of the beginning of a particular sort of madness which envelops our village about this time of year. In other towns, the residents might get together for evenings of bridge or mahjong, but in Woodridge the national sport is ping-pong. If a survey were to be taken, I'm sure that Woodridge would have more ping-pong tables per capita than any other town in the world.

It all goes back to a wintry evening in 1959, when the ways and means committee of the now defunct Home Owners Association sat together trying to think of something to sponsor to raise money as well as to enhance the name of WHOA. (Who can forget those initials?) On this evening the first tournament was born. It was a closely-knit affair that first year, for we were still a small village, for the most part unbeset by political problems. We started with a men's and women's singles tournament, round-robin style, with two losses eliminating an entrant. Matches were very formal, held on specified tables at specified times with an authorized official in attendance. If memory serves, Carl Warner, John Dacy, Tom Jacek, Horace Thoresen, and yours truly were the reigning committee who doubled as referees. Don Jeffrey won the men's in 1960, his first of two in a row, and Nancy O'Connell had women's

In 1961, the WHOA continued to sponsor and Don Jeffrey continued to win. Shirley Jayne appeared on the scene with the women for the first time, and their tournament became a "no-competition" affair. The men's doubles was begun, with partners decided by lot. The luck of the draw put Ned Hill and Gene Okonski together, and they came home with the bacon.

The following year, after the Home Owners disbanded, the Athletic Association took over the tournament. Play was put on a divisional basis, with each man in a division playing all others in his division. The division winners then advanced to a sudden-death play off. Don Jeffrey had decided to retire undefeated, and a newcomer, Barry Aufman, took the title. Shirley Jayne continued her monopoly of the women's. In men's doubles, the committee decided to seed the participants, so that two of the better players would not be partners. In what must be considered the best tournament to date, John Narducci coaxed and pleaded George Alexander to the championship.

In 1963, the doubles and women's were dropped, and the men's singles was put on an exhausting schedule of having to play each entrant a full match. John Narducci knocked defending champ Aufman out in a thrilling final series. It was in 1963 that an unknown by the name of Czart came from nowhere to beat all comers, then, just as mysteriously, disappeared before the final playoffs.

So the time is again upon us for those rousing matches on cold and blustery evenings which did so much to knot the early village together. Thinking of the old tournaments brings to mind many names of men who have since moved---

Next meeting, Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Woodridge school gym.

Ray Landgraf, Dick Lee, Sy Jayne, Jim Brian, and many others——all of whom were so active those first years.

Those of you who want to play, should show up at the next Athletic Association meeting. You're sure to hear about the upcoming tournament, and, if you see a miniature Italian there with a Parodi stuck in his mouth, mention the word "ping-pong" for a few thousand well chosen words on how he won last year's title with one arm tied behind his back. Classes for high school students are held in St. Scholastica school Sunday mornings at 9 a.m. The cooperation of both parents and students in seeing to attendance at these important classes is most necessary.

There will be an evening of recollection for all married couples Sun., Dec. 1, starting at 8 p.m. This will take place in the lower classroom of the school. All married couples are invited and encouraged to attend.

Plans are completed for the Turkey Trot Dance to be held Sat., Nov. 23, at the Laborer's Union Hall, Ogden and Cass avenues, Westmont. The dance is sponsored by the St. Scholastica Men's Club and is intended as a "get-acquainted" event. Tickets are $1 per person and are available from members of the club.

December 7 and 8 are the dates for the Women's Society "Mistletoe Mart" to be held at St. Scholastica school. The "Mistletoe Mart" is the annual Christmas bazaar sponsored by the Women's Society. There will be oodles of homemade articles ---aprons, Christmas decorations, candy, and many other interesting articles. Proceeds will help to build the new St. Scholastica school.

Progress report: Bids will be let very shortly for construction of the first parish buildings of St. Scholastica parish. Eight classrooms and a temporary church-gym are the first phase of an extensive building program in which the parish will be engaged over the next few years. Present plans call for construction to begin in the spring of 1964.

Dear Santa,

We were glad to hear that you would be able to make our Mistletoe Mart at the St. Scholastica school on Dec. 7 and 8. Knowing how busy you are, we have decided to make this an annual affair hoping in some way we can help lighten your task by getting the villagers to do most of their Christmas shopping early. The children are all excited knowing you will soon be in Woodridge. Now don't forget, the time is from 1 to 7 p.m. on both days.

For weeks we too have been busy making toys, miscellaneous handi-work articles, Christmas decorations, etc., to be sold at booths along with religious items. Oh! We almost forgot to mention the delicious homemade candy. Incidentally, if anyone gets hungry while browsing around, they can visit our refreshment booth. We are trying to help in every way we can.

Just wait until you see our lollipop tree. The children will enjoy this along with the other games. For example; there's the fish pond, balloon-dart game, hammer the nail, cake walk, parcel post, and many others.

Well, by now you have a general idea what to expect at our Mistletoe Mart.

See you soon,

The St. Scholastica Women's Society
