Mothers Club

Holds Sale

Two consecutive Fridays, Dec. 6 and 13 have been set aside by the Woodridge Mother club for the sale of sweat shirts, T-shirts, scarves and pennants in Woodridge school colors, which bear the new school emblem. The sale, under the direction of the ways and means committee, Mrs. Helga Scudder, Mrs. Grace Kennell and Mrs. Norma Jean Schwindy, will be held in the main entrance hall of the school from 3 to 4 p.m. on both dates.

Popular demand for the items has resulted in this special sale which Mrs. Joyce Diaz, club publicity chairman, says "is a chance for mothers to pick up wonderful Christmas gifts for their school children without breaking the budget." Prices for the items range from 50¢ for the pennants to $2.25 for the large-size sweat shirts.

Those who cannot attend the sale on either date may place their orders with Mrs. Schwindy, 2723-75th st., WO 9-7962. Profits on all items will benefit the school.

The club's next regular meeting, Dec. 17, will be set aside again this year for the annual children's Christmas program, "The Twelve Days of Christmas," to be presented by the 5th to 8th grade students.

Village Stickers

On Sale

Village of Woodridge 1964 vehicle licenses are now available at the village hall, 2909 Forest Glen Pkwy., according to Faye Hoffman, village clerk. Application may be made during office hours: 7-9 p.m. Tuesdays, 1-4 p.m. Thursdays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays. The application calls for make and model and year of your car (or cars) and your 1964 state license number. Cost of license will be $5 per car.

October 31, the DuPage county zoning board of appeals heard a request for a change for this property from county R-2 to county B-4 to allow establishment of a used car lot at that locale by Steven Goldberg, 7537 Woodridge. Denial of the zoning change will prohibit the used car lot there.

The Woodridge village board, on recommendation of the village plan commission, had filed an objection to the rezoning, as well as objections voiced by various citizens at the Oct. 31 hearing.

At Adjourned Meeting

Board Deadlock Still On

At an adjourned village meeting held on Tuesday, Nov. 26 the village again took no action to resolve the attorney stalemate and the appointment of new plan commission members. Almost immediately after Mayor William Roberts opened the meeting, Trustee Marvin Wiggins moved that the meeting be adjourned. The Mayor quickly said that he had a few items that should be taken care of. Wiggins withdrew his motion when he learned one of the items Roberts was referring to was a motion to pay $12 to the children who delivered the proclamation pamphlets (concerning the President's death) to the residents over the weekend. Wiggins said he approved of the proclamation, and recognized that the Mayor had the power to issue one, but complained that he did not know about it until the pamphlets were passed to his house. Roberts apologized for not notifying the board members ahead of time, but explained that he was pressed for time and did not feel it was necessary to have a meeting for this purpose.

The Mayor said he had authorized the purchase of a wreath for the memorial services that were held in the school on Monday. He also said he authorized the police department to conduct a fund drive for the family of officer J. D. Tippit of Dallas. In referring to the Dallas incident, he instructed the public protection and finance committees to review the insurance coverage for the village police officers to insure that they are adequately covered.

The board then voted to approve the $12 payment to the children and the meeting adjourned.

School Board Plans Q&A Meetings

The District 68 DuPage County Board of Education has announced that special meetings will be held Dec. 11 at Goodrich school and Dec. 12 at Woodridge school at 8 p.m. to answer questions regarding the Dec. 14 $165,000 school building bond referen-

Santa To Arrive In Lisle

Santa Claus will arrive in Lisle on Saturday, Dec. 14 at 9:30 a.m. aboard a Lisle Fire Department engine escorted by the Lisle Police.

After a parade through town he will be at the Lisle Savings, 4722 Main st., from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. to greet his many young friends. Free gifts will be given to children under ten if they are accompanied by an adult.

Parents are invited to watch Santa's arrival and to bring their children to receive their free gifts. This is an annual tradition at Lisle Savings. It was inaugurated five years ago, the first Christmas that Lisle Savings opened in Lisle. Last year gifts were given to more than 700 youngsters. Their lobby will be decorated in the holiday motif and Christmas music will be played.

Academy Candidate

George Nees

George Nees, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Balogh, 2807 Forest Glen Pkwy., has been nominated as a candidate for appointment to the Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N. Y., by Congressman Elmer J. Hoffman of the 14th District.

Nees, a senior and a science major at D. G. H. S., started procedures seeking the appointment almost a year ago.

Nees said that his physics teacher, H. D. Krass, who has been extremely helpful and encouraging, initially suggested that he seek the appointment and is himself a graduate of the Merchant Marine Academy. He added that he has had interviews with Republican precinct committeeman, Gene O'Connell and Congressman Hoffman and has taken the qualifying examination which involved "3 hours of solid testing."

"Mr. O'Connell has given me so much help and got me started on this whole thing," he said regarding council and advise on the process of application for the appointment through Congressman Hoffman.

Nominations for appointment to the nation's four military academies are based on the results of a competitive qualifying examination which was conducted by the civil service commission on July 8.

The state is allotted 15 nominations for appointment to fill vacancies and each congressman may nominate 10 candidates who compete on a state-wide basis for appointment.

MISTLETOE MART Bazaar, sponsored by the St. Scholastica Womens Society - to be held Dec. 7 and 8 from 1 to 7 p.m.

dum. Bond proceeds are to be used for additions to Woodridge and Goodrich elementary schools in order to maintain current educational standards and avoid split shifts.

Board officials estimate that the present school enrollment of 640 students in the district will increase to 1000 by the fall of 1964 and to 1100 by the spring of 1965.

Speaking to the Goodrich Community Club Nov. 20, John Dahlberg, board president, explained the need for expansion:

"The addition to the Goodrich School must be substantially started by January 1965 in order for the school district to keep and use the $75,000 contribution from Winson-Muss. The need for approval on the referendum is therefore urgently needed.

"The school board has as its main objective the building of schoolrooms in time for the need. Of additional consideration is the desire not to over-build and have empty classrooms. A third consideration is the realistic fact that small additions result in higher costs per room. The board has concluded that it would rather provide a few spare rooms ahead of time rather than risk double shifts which were experienced four years ago. The addition of all of rooms at Goodrich could result in savings equivalent to 3/4 of a room compared to making the addition in two parts. In addition, the inconvenience caused by the construction operations to the teaching staff and students will be minimized.

"It is the intention of the board to carefully weigh these factors with the final costs when the bids are received. A better view of the building prospects may also be seen at that time."

Goodrich school now has 10 full sized classrooms. Six to ten new classrooms, depending on money available, will be built. In addition, more office facilities, conversion of the present office to speech and health rooms, a library, additional toilet facilities and the expansion of the all-purpose room to gymnasium size with a small stage is planned. Goodrich gym is not now full size, since at the time of original building, funds would not allow full size construction.

An additional 4 classrooms will be needed at Woodridge school as well as a library with space for health and speech rooms and additional toilet facilities.

Neither the Woodridge nor Goodrich schools should any longer delay the provision of libraries since the state school authorities recommend library facilities for all schools, the board explained.

The cost to the taxpayer of this $165,000 bond issue will be about 8¢ per $100 assessed valuation or $8 per $10,000 assessed valuation. This comes to about 66¢ per month. However, this will be offset by an increased tax base and bond retirement to approximately 5¢ per $100 assessed valuation or about 42¢ per month on a $10,000 assessed valuation.

The estimated cost of the building program if done on one contract is $250,000. Money available is $75,000 from Winston-Muss Corporation (for Goodrich construction), $12,000 cash on hand for construction purposes and accrued interest on cash amounts invested or on deposit.

218 Visit Schools

Lad Vransy, Woodridge school principal, reported that 166 people observed in the classrooms there during National Education week, Nov. 11-15. There were 52 visitors at Goodrich school, according to principal Don Driver.

Editorial

Our hats off to the Woodridge Police Department for their efforts to help the family of Officer J. D. Tippett of the Dallas police who was killed in attempting to apprehend Lee Harvey Oswald, the alleged assassin of the late President John Kennedy.

The Chicago Tribune carried a story last week about our police department's plans to solicit funds for this worthy cause. After all the unfavorable publicity our village has received in the outside press during the past months because of the trustee suits and the like, it was a real pleasure to read a widely circulated news item that put our village in a favorable light.

It is unfortunate that a city as large as Dallas has failed to provide insurance for its policemen. Each municipality has an obligation to provide adequate protection for its police force. We approve of the review that our village is making of the Woodridge police insurance.

Novello Named "Most Valuable"

Ronald Novello receives his plaque from Bear's Mike Ditka.

Ronald Novello 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Novello, 2600 Forest Glen Pkwy., was honored at the annual sports banquet held Nov. 18, at St. Procopius Academy.

Ron, named to the First Team, played center for the Redwings. He was elected to the Suburban Catholic Conference's "all conference teams" as the most valuable player at St. Procopius Academy. He also was the only boy at the banquet to receive two trophies.

The annual banquet was attended by 400 persons including his proud parents, and featured Chicago Bear player all-pro end Mike Ditka as their guest speaker. After the banquet Ron was 1 of 2 boys who were honored with a handshake and discussion with Ditka.

On the plaque given to the school (see picture) Ron's name appeared first for both honors which in itself is an honor long to be remembered by both students and faculty now and for years to come.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The St. Scholastica Men's Club put in a good deal of preparation into the Turkey Trot Dance. Over 300 tickets were sold, many outside the Village. When the President's death was announced, the immediate thought was to cancel the dance. The difficulty would have been in contacting all these people and also in finding a date to which the dance could be postponed. In view of these facts, and quite reluctantly, the dance was held. A memorial service was held at the dance. We are grateful to all who supported our effort and know that all will understand our predicament.

Father John Kloefer

Dear Editor:

The brutal murder of President Kennedy is a great loss to the entire world, as without a doubt he was a man respected by all.

This loss to the Democratic Party of their brilliant young leader is felt from the National level all the way to our Lisle Township Democratic Organization.

His dynamic personality, his gracious manner, his wonderful smile and his Christian desire for a better life for all mankind will long be remembered.

As Chairman of Lisle Township Regular Democratic Organization I feel great sorrow for Mrs. Kennedy, her children and all the late President Kennedy's family.

We are indeed fortunate to have such a great and experienced leader as President Johnson ready and able to take the head of our great country. It is our sincere hope that President Johnson will receive the necessary support to complete many of President Kennedy's plans.

IT'S ELEMENTARY Goodrich

by Susan Poslusny

A very happy third grade returned from O'Hare Field Tuesday after a very exciting field trip. They had toured a TWA hanger and Constellation Plane with great enthusiasm, for they had received a "ride" in a jet plane. One third grader said, "Our jet trip seemed short because we enjoyed the ride so much!" They then received junior pilot and junior hostess wings.

District #68 was proud to have Cindy Kettell and Janet Palmer, plus three students from Woodridge School singing in the Junior Choir at Wheaton College along with three hundred other students from the Mid-Western area. As they were practicing for the final program, the tragic news of the assassination of President Kennedy was announced. Soon after, they were requested to go to the chapel across from the college and receive a service regarding the late president.

There is no nicer smell than that of home-baked bread. The taste of this bread is simply delicious. Mrs. Charles Lodl, 2713 - 63rd st., gets the credit for this recipe - its her own:

HAPPY RYE BREAD

- 2 small cakes yeast
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 6 cups rye and wheat flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1-1/2 tablespoons caraway seed
- 2-1/2 cups warm water

In a small bowl put 1/2 cup of warm water, 2 T. sugar and crumble yeast. Mix. Let rise for about 10 min.

In a large bowl measure the flour, salt and caraway seed. (Do not sift). Mix the flour, salt and seed together with a spoon.

Add yeast mixture and the remainder of the water. Mix well and then place dough on a floured board, or cloth and knead for 5 min. Use about 1/2 cup of white flour on the board. (Dough will be sticky). Add more flour while kneading, if needed. After kneading dough, place in a large greased bowl and let rise until double in bulk (takes about 1-1/2 hrs.)

Place dough on floured board, punch down, and knead slightly.

Divide dough into two loaves. Shape into long or round loaves.

Place on a greased cookie sheet. Cut slashes into the loaves. Brush with topping of: 1 egg yolk diluted with 1/2 teaspoon of water to give the rye bread a hard crust and glaze.

Heat oven to 400 degrees (10 min.) place bread inside and bake for 40 min.

If a lighter and softer crust is desired, reduce heat after the first 20 min. to 350 degrees.

Bread is done if it sounds hollow when you tap it with your knuckles.

Ovens may vary in heat, so occasionally a few minutes longer in baking is required.

This is inexpensive to make, but guaranteed to please all. Put your love into it, and you'll get double your love back. Good Luck!

(Do you have a favorite recipe you've misplaced? Is there a certain dish you'd love to know how to make? Need help with a difficult recipe? Call Marie at WO 9-4375.)

The universe is full of ideas, but we need wisdom to make the right selection.

Thanksgiving day, 1963, dawned bright and clear, and I prepared to spend the morning and early afternoon concentrating on the TV reports of the Green Bay-Detroit game. This traditional turkey-day game was particularly important this year, and as an avid Bear fan, I was especially interested in a repeat of last year's Detroit Lion victory. I settled down at 11 a. m. with the little box tuned in to channel 2 with Ray Scott announcing.

It was just after the Packer's Jim Taylor was smeared on the first play, to set the pattern for a brilliant defensive battle, that I received the hint of storm clouds on the horizon for my planned viewing. A Tonka tow-truck came cannonading down the hallway and rammed into the TV, shaking the picture for an instant. A reprimand to the children insured against, I thought, a recurrence of such an interruption. But when a small brass band began to blare from the back bedroom, I slowly began to realize that this game was to be different from those seen earlier in the year. Usually, a game begins at 1 p. m. at which time the children are napping. This game, however, begun at 11, was probably to be fraught with countless perils to serious concentration.

The household was strangely quiet during halftime, since the Apache warrior and the white school-teacher enjoy band music. As the second half began, so began again the Civil War, and a Confederate Rebel went screaming away in close pursuit of a petrified Yankee nurse. Somewhere during the third period the announcer indicated that a brilliant play had been made, but this was apparently at the time that our living room became the Brookfield Zoo, complete with roaring tigers, growling bears, hissing snakes and snorting gorillas. After the animals had been assured that the zoo was closed on Thanksgiving, quiet reigned again.

We watched transfixed as Green Bay moved steadily down the field desperately trying to break the tie. Just as they scored (which I nearly saw) one of the displaced gorillas, or perhaps a frustrated Confederate Rebel, stepped on the tail of the family cat. The latter went snarling up the drapes, there to be disengaged.

Then it was finally, delightfully, unbelievably time for small children to take a nap. I happily volunteered to do the honors, but first had to battle a fusillade of bullets in a desperate gun battle between Jesse James and Belle Starr. As the exhausted outlaws closed their eyes, I tiptoed out to the living room in time to see someone dip a package of cigarettes into a pan of water to prove that the package was waterproof. At the close of the commercial, the announcer indicated that 10 seconds remained in the game, and that somehow, somewhere, the Lions had tied the score.

As the gun went off, and the sun sunk slowly in the West, we were at least safe in the knowledge that our Bears had regained a full game lead in the Western division. Also, I resolved to read about the Packer-Lion game in Friday's papers.

Send A Token Of Love

By Shirley Manges

One thing all but a handful of the 10,000 mentally retarded children at the Lincoln and Dixon homes have is an infinite capacity for love, available in limited supply. There simply are not enough attendants, nurses and aids and parents and relatives to go around. About half of these youngsters have no known family and are "forgotten children."

The gifts you send at Christmas are a token of love which helps to fill this void.

The age range in Lincoln and Dixon is infancy to the 30s. Physical condition ranges from virtual vegetable existence to robust good health. Mental capacity ranges from zero to near normalcy.

Until two years ago, hundreds of forgotten children had desolate Christmas days, receiving no presents. For the last two years, every child in both schools received something at Christmas time.

The schools are identical in facilities and needs. Gifts intended for one school or the other should be so designated. Otherwise gifts will be divided evenly.

Here is a list of some of the articles most desired by the residents: For children, rubber squeeze toys, plastic crib balls, plastic stack blocks, dolls of all kinds, rubber balls (large and medium), plastic crib toys, musical tops, and anything in new clothing for boys and girls.

The men like billfolds, travel kits, watches, radios, cigarets, rings, jigsaw puzzles, paint-by number sets, mosaic tile sets, playing cards, anything in new clothing.

Clothing and cosmetics of all kinds please the women. They like bath towels and washclothes, slippers, watches, radios, costume jewelry, head scarves, playing cards, puzzles.

Soap - the fresh, sweet-smelling kind - is cherished, because it may be used instead of the prison-made soap, which is soapy but awfully drab.

They also send out a plea for beanbags, candy and gum, ballpoint pens, coloring books, neckties and dolls, dolls, and more dolls. The Lincoln and Dixon Christmas list reads almost like any other Christmas list - multiplied by 10,000.

Anyone wishing to donate gifts may take them to Mrs. Henry Wilgus, publicity chairman of the Firemen's Auxiliary, 7637 Woodview, on or before Dec. 14.

Firemen's Auxiliary

The Firemen's Auxiliary is preparing a Christmas box of small gift items to send to the Lincoln and Dixon retarded children's home. Each member is to have ten items ready by Christmas.

Anyone wishing to contribute to this box may contact Mrs. Delores Wilgus, WO 9-2608, or any member of the Firemen's Auxiliary.

The Auxiliary is busily preparing a second Christmas box to send to the home which will include only hobby horses made by the members. The heads are made of felt and fur with candy canes attached to resemble hobby horses.

The firemen and their wives are planning on visiting the Lincoln-Dixon home in Wheaton on Dec. 15.

The auxiliary is also planning a birthday club for the Sunny Ridge Dependent Children's Home in Wheaton.

The seniors also have good cause to be excited. The senior benefit movie "Carousel" will be shown Dec. 12, at the Tivoli theater in Downers Grove. Tickets may be purchased from any representative of the class of '64.

The heads of the freshman class were chosen. Among them is Woodridgeite, Larry Sarlo, who now holds the position of Vice-President. Congratulations Larry.

On Tuesday, Nov. 26, a special assembly was held in memory of the late president, John F. Kennedy.

On the sports scene, the Downers Grove varsity basketball squad trounced Willowbrook 81-50 and Naperville 78-57. The sophomore cagers have an identical record as they have also downed their opponents in both games.

The wrestling squads are also undefeated. In their only meet, the varsity grapplers trounced Morton West 30-15 and the JV team beat the Morton JV's 29-16. The freshman squad tied 26-26.
