Our Teachers

By Shifra Werch

In the past two months, Woodridge School has obtained two new teachers, Mrs. Jean Huckins in February and Mrs. Rose Schwankl on March 2.

Mrs. Huckins, a native of Cape Cod, Mass. has lived in New Hampshire, New Jersey and Wisconsin before she came here last September. She received her Bachelors degree and her Masters at the University of Massachusetts and now has been teaching for five years.

She and her husband, Robert, have two children, Peter, in second grade and Ilayna, in first.

She believes that phonics is very important in the 3rd grade.

Mrs. Schwankl, the new fifth grade teacher, was born in Hibbing, Minnesota. She started her teaching career twelve years ago when she received her degree at St. Cloude Teachers College. Since then, she has taught in places like Alaska, Ohio and other states. After arriving here last January with her husband, Charles, and taking over the class, she has found time to pursue her favorite hobbies of golfing, dancing and several different phases of handiwork.

She feels that in fifth grade, the development of good work habits and independent workers is very important to insure no trouble in the upper, departmentalized grades.

Blood Mobile In Woodridge Saturday

How You're Protected

It will be possible for a limited number of donors to "walk in and give blood" to participate in the Mt. Sinai Hospital-Woodridge Woman's Club Blood Mobile program on May 23 between 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. said Mrs. Hester Thuerk, president. Due to a few cancellations, there are openings still available for the donor insurance program. Those interested can register on the premises after answering a short questionnaire.

To donate the pint of blood, which will insure your entire family for any amount of blood they might need during the next year in any hospital in the country, you must be between the ages of 21 and 60 (18 to 21 with parents consent); must never have had jaundice, malaria, diabetes, or syphilis; must not have had a cold, flu or symptoms for at least 1 week; cannot be pregnant or have had a child within the last year and various other conditions which will be explained before registration.

If you are planning to participate in the program, you must not have alcoholic beverages for a full 12 hrs. before donating, and should eat only the following within 4 hours before donating: coffee and tea with sugar or lemon but no cream or milk, water, soft drinks and fruit juices; dry toast, crackers or bread (with jelly but no butter). Do not eat any fatty foods such as eggs, meats, cheese, milk, soups, sweet rolls, etc. and above all, do not starve yourself. You may have as much of the approved food listed above as you like.

This is the first time a blood mobile program has been brought into Woodridge, and if it is a successful venture, the unit will be brought back within the period of

The Woodridge Police Department and St. Scholastica Church.

Individual services were volunteered by Mesdames: Ann Fox, Lois Demmin, Bobbie Munsterman, and Mrs. Irwin Cobb, as nurses, Aaron Kagann as pharmacist, together with his wife Joan who worked both dates as a registrar, and Dr. Westmoreland, as medical advisor.

The entire vaccine program was sponsored by the DuPage County Health Dept., the DuPage County Pharmaceutical Assoc. and the DuPage County Medical Society.

'Strip Zoning' Discussed At Hearing

B-3 ZONING FOR 75th STREET.

A public hearing of the Woodridge Plan Commission was held May 12, 1964, with approximately 20 people in attendance. The purpose of the hearing was to amend Ordinance 62-3 (The Woodridge Zoning Ordinance) and to hear testimony on Ordinance 62-3 regarding the application for rezoning the North West Corner of Janes ave. and 75th st.

The purpose of amending Ordinance 62-3 is to verify existing zoning. The Board of Trustees said that the official zoning map has never been signed, and is in conflict with later maps that have been signed by the Mayor.

John Trask, Commissioner of Public Works, testified that he was a member of the committee which designed the original Zoning Ordinance and map and the failure to cross-hatch the zoning maps properly in the area under contention was solely an error on his part. Trask said it was the intention of the Board of Trustees when the Zoning Ordinance was passed that this area be zoned B-3.

There was no other question as to the legality of the Zoning Ordinance and map and everyone generally agreed as to its intent.

Mr. Albert Kaufmann, president of Surety Builders, asked that the North West Corner of Janes ave. and 75th st., the property under dispute as to the legal zoning, be zoned B-3. Kaufmann stressed that this request was in no way conceding to the fact that this area was not already zoned B-3, but was simply a routine procedure for his own protection.

Although it was not mentioned in the public hearing notice appearing in the WNR, Kaufmann also asked for a B-3 zoning along the entire North side of 75th st. (The Nadelhoffer property fronting 75th st. has already been zoned B-3 as per the Annexation Agreement with Winston-Muss).

Kaufmann said he was asking for the B-3 "strip" zoning at this time because he was under the impression that that was what the Village wanted although he had no plans for building on it and did not particularly care how it was zoned.

It was brought out that with two Church sites already located in this "strip", B-3 zoning could possibly be detrimental to these Churches.

Several people objected to the B-3 "strip" zoning but approved the B-3 zoning of the NW corner of Janes ave and 75th st. Kaufman said he plans to use the property on both the NW and SW corners of Janes ave. and 75th st. for a shopping center. This property totals approximately 15 acres.

One person was in favor of the B-3 "strip" zoning and said it was not at all unusual for Churches to locate in a business or shopping area.

Kaufmann also requested R-3 zoning (backing the B-3 area) on which to build apartment type dwellings which will act as a buffer screen to the shopping area. He asked that in the event the Village Board did not approve the B-3 "strip" zoning, R-3 zoning be extended to 75th st. to continue his plans to screen the shopping center.

In answer to a question from the floor, Mr. Kaufman said he would develop the old shopping center site on the South first.

8th Grade Art Projects

L. to R. Roberta Cramer, Susan Greene and Andrea Wilgus.

African Witch Doctor Masks and Toothpick constructions were just two of the art projects the Woodridge eighth grade art class completed this year.

The masks are paper mache formed over an aluminum foil base. This base was removed when the paper mache dried. Tempera paints, beads, string and other items were used to put the finishing touches on this project.

The toothpick construction was limited to animals. Each pupil was given a piece of cardboard on which to build the animal of his choice. Besides the horse and mouse pictured, fish, an alligator, dogs, frogs, elephants, turtles, a bull and several insects were successfully attempted.

"Your Chief Says"

WATCH OUT FOR KIDS

"Children don't think... cars don't think... drivers must think." This simple slogan, frequently seen near schools in Illinois, spells out the responsibility of the driver to obey the Cardinal Rule of safety... watch out for kids.

Children are precious assets and must be protected from death or injury. Drivers must be alert at all times for children dashing into the street after a rolling ball, crossing the street between intersections, crossing against the light and other situations.

Children should be taught to obey traffic rules and signs, but they become excited and sometimes forget. The responsithem at all times and particularly during the hours of dusk when it is more difficult to see.

"Be sure to slow down at crosswalks and watch for signs signaling a school crossing. Strict adherence to a 20 m. p. h. school speed zones is urgent during these last days of school this year" Kagann said. "Remember it is up to the driver to think and stop. Obey this rule of safety watch out for kids."

TO THE EDITOR

A good road base is what makes for good roads. In that all present road bases were laid before we came into office; we can hardly be held responsible for the deterioration of the existing roads. We have given the new village engineer instructions to order the stoppage of construction whenever new road work does not meet engineering standards.

The Story Of Bread

L. to R. Chuck Hague, Richard Durkin and Debbie Fisher.

Because bread is used in our daily diet, Miss Rathje's 2nd grade class at Woodridge school decided recently they would study the story of bread.

They first discussed how the farmer plants and reaps the wheat. The wheat is then taken to the mill to be ground into flour by the miller. From the mill, the flour is taken to the bakery to be used in the process of making bread.

All the ingredients, machines, and workers were studied and how they were related to the making of bread and to each other.

As a final project, they made their own books on the Story of Bread, including all the steps in the making of bread.

As a culminating activity, bread was made in the classroom, which was a tremendous success. The class agreed that it was delicious. They also took a field trip to the Rainbo Bakery in Aurora which proved both educational and interesting.

The bread unit proved to be very interesting to the children. They found that they could make bread with very little difficulty, and at the same time enjoy doing it. They also learned why and how bread is good for their bodies.

BY MARY CATHERINE HIMES

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prosek and family, 7653 Woodridge dr., who recently moved to the village.

Visitors to our town include Mr. and Mrs. O. Douglas of Kentucky and Mr. and Mrs. Schreck of Cincinnati who are all visiting with Ed and Betty Schreck and family of Jonquil ln.

Birthdays come and birthdays go but who remember them better than the younger crowd. Happy Birthday to: Michael Filipski of Crabtree and to Michael Vandeleur of Westview who celebrated his 8th birthday on Saturday with several friends. Everyone enjoyed the refreshments but the most exciting part was the treasure hunt through the woods.

Michael Himes is celebrating his 5th birthday today with his young playmates. Cake and ice cream was served and its pretty safe to say that it was enjoyed by all.

May 13 was the lucky day for Joan Marie Oldenburg, daughter of Fran and Chuck Oldenburg, 7623 Catalpa. Her good fortune came in the form of a baby shower. Co-hostesses for the afternoon were Ellie Murphy and Mary Catherine Himes. Joan received several lovely outfits and coffee and cake were enjoyed by the guests.

The recent storm that blew through

Woodridge was really something to remember and when the alarm went out that a house had blown down, all rallied round. The children's spirits were low but the mother of the family seemed to be taking it pretty well. Oh!! I guess I forgot to mention, it was the children's playhouse that was blown over

MOON MOUSE By Randy Schwindy

Faster than a speeding bullet and more powerful than a bomb is this man or beast named Moon Mouse. One day when Moon Mouse was coming down from the moon something hit him. It was the X-15 going 3000 miles a second. Moon Mouse, which he is called on the moon, is Pogo on the earth, landed with a bound.

It was two hours before he came to. He started to walk around the apple orchard. The earth was too cold. On the moon the temperature is 300° above 0°. On the earth it is 45° above 0°. He had to adjust his suit to the right temperature for him. He saw a strange looking beast with four legs, a tail and two ears. "What is this?" He said.

When this strange beast saw him he turned around and ran as far as he could. Pogo went to the town to get something to eat. When the people saw him they ran, closed up the stores and got their guns. Pogo went to the airport to see what he could get there. He smelled something good. It was cheese on the airplane bound for Florida.

Pogo went aboard the plane which was in Chicago leaving for Florida.

Pogo could make himself small or big. He made himself small so no one could see him. He went to the kitchen to get some cheese. After he got it and ate it all up he said, "Boy that's good." With another piece of cheese he went to the baggage compartment and there he saw the same strange looking beast. But this time it was in a cage. Pogo said, "What is this beast?"

Suddenly the beast pulled him up to look at him. This beast answered, "I am a cat. I am on my way to Florida to go to the moon in a rocket."

Suddenly Pogo hit the cat and he was out. Pogo ran to the cabin where the men were piloting the plane. He hopped up on the lap of one of the men. The man knocked him off without knowing it. Pogo came to in a second and raced toward a lady that was sitting in a chair. Pogo at the minute didn't know that he had a cold nose. When he touched the lady's leg she said, "Help, Help!"

When the pilot came to the lady he asked what was wrong. She said, "There is a mouse on this plane."

The pilot said, "There is not".

The lady said, "There is too."

Before long there was a fight on the plane. But where was Pogo? He ran away to hide. Pogo was in the sugar bowl. Pogo took the top off to look and saw a fight.

It was 2 hours before the plane landed. Pogo followed the cage that the cat was in to Cape Kennedy. The cat was being loaded in the rocket which would be sent to the moon. The count down started 10...9...8...7...6...5...4...3...2...1...0.....Blast Off!! The rocket was on the way to the moon and Pogo was going home forever. I heard him say, "What a nutty world!"

A WILD CANOE TRIP

BY LARRY VUKOV

Getting ready for this year's vacation was going to be a lot of fun. This year we were going to leave mom and the little kids home. Dad, Jack and I were going to go to Ely, Minnesota for a canoe trip. We were going to hire a guide so that we would have a better chance of catching some fish.

We had bought a tent without a floor because dad said that we didn't need a floor. After packing our 1952 Ford, the trunk and the whole back seat were loaded with supplies. We left in the morning at about 3:30 a.m. By 9 a.m. we were at the half way point. At about 2 p.m. we were in Ely. There we rented a motel for a day. In the morning, we had a good breakfast and went to see the Ely Canoe Outfitters. While there, they fitted us with enough food for two weeks and the oldest guide they had.

Once we got started, we could tell that he was a good guide. But there was one complication, that was that he couldn't see very well. The first half week was OK except for one thing. That was that the tent had no floor, and ants and crickets kept getting in the sleeping bags and crawling in our pajamas. Then in the morning we would have to jump in the river to get them out.

On the fifth day, some bears were snooping around camp and when we woke up they were next to the water by the canoe. We scared them off but not in time to stop one bear from untying the rope that was attached to the canoe. The canoe floated into the lake. Without thinking Jack jumped into the water with his pajamas on and tried to swim after the canoe. But he had over-looked the fact that he didn't know how to swim. Then the guide helped Jack ashore and dad brought back the canoe.

Finally, on the seventh day, something bad happened. Dad was just through netting my big musky when the musky snapped at dad. The guide took a shot at the musky with his rifle. The shot missed the musky because he didn't see too well. However, it didn't miss the bottom of the canoe. It went right through the bottom, and within five minutes the canoe sank. All we could get to shore was our tent, food and clothing.

Stranded in Canada we walked through the woods in the direction which we thought was toward the outfitters. We kept walking until we saw something big and black. Dad threw a rock at him and it turned out to be a bear. He chased us until we out tricked him by hiding from him.

Everything went right for the next week except that food was running low. The next day we spotted water but the area we came to was the same spot we had left.

We stayed there two days until two men in separate canoes picked us up and took us to the outfitters.

Saying good-by to our guide, we got in the car. Dad took off the emergency brake and the car started rolling to the end of the pier. Everyone quickly jumped out and the car rolled off of the pier.

With what money we had left we bought a 1936 Ford stripped on the inside with no muffler.

When we got home, mom asked, "What happened?"

Dad said, "Oh, nothing much."

My hats off to Dave Richert for his article on the "Tickey-Tackey" look. So often this sort of thing creeps into our landscaping. Generally, we should not plant our shrubs in a straight line around the back or front yard. Fill in those corners with curved plantings or face a straight shrubbery line with nice free-form, gently curved and edged flower beds. Let's not forget, Dad, that cuts down on the mowing. Anyway, if we wait long enough, Mom will pull those little inconspicuous weeds that creep in.

This year is advancing with an accelerated pace as far as our spring is concerned. In respects to the Bronze Birch borer, I think we should spray with DDT on about the 25th of May and again on the 1st of June. These little varmints might go seeking their heart throbs early this year and that is the only time to get at them with a spray.

We had a light frost the other night, I was up at Prospect Heights picking up an eight inch maple and discovered that my good friend Mike Straus had gotten some frozen new tips on his Japanese yews.

For those of you who have trouble growing lawn on the North side of buildings, you might try this. First, if there is any green moss on the bare ground, this is a good indication that the soil is sour and needs lawn lime. The real reason for the bare ground is that you probably used Kentucky Blue grass mixture for your lawn and this seed just will not do real well in the shade. If you have a thinning problem on the north side of buildings, reseed it with a high percentage of creeping fescues. These grasses like moderate shade and generally do well. If this doesn't work you might have to go to Poa Trivialis. (I can just hear some of my friends saying, "I don't like foreign travel".)

There is an unusually useful plant on the market in which a lot of you will be interested. It's name is "Cole's Tailhedge" It is a columnar buckthorn. This plant gets four feet thick and ten feet tall in five years. It grows very easily and needs no shearing. It can easily be maintained at four feet. It is an ideal "between backyard" screen, especially to prevent your neighbor from counting the hot-dogs you consume and the cans of milk you drink.

Clothes Mildewing?

If your clothing and household furnishings have been subjected to unusually wet weather, it's wise to act now to protect them from mildew.

Mold that causes mildew thrives in damp, warm, poorly aired places. So the first thing to do is open everything up and let the air and sunshine in.

If you see mildew on your clothing or upholstered furniture, brush it off before it has a chance to weaken or rot the material. Then sun and air the fabrics thoroughly.

Vacuum mattresses, rugs and carpets carefully to draw out all of the mold. Use an electric heater and a fan to carry away moist air.

Sponge mildewed rugs and carpets with soapsuds or a rug shampoo. Dry in the sun if possible.

Use a low-pressure spray containing a fungicide to get rid of musty odors. More information on preventing and removing mildew is given in U. S. Department of Agriculture Home and Garden Bulletin 68. Ask your county home adviser, Mrs. Rachel L. Crabb, for a copy. Call 668-5114, or write to 222 E. Willow, Room 104, Wheaton, Illinois.
